

Rescind Overpass Action, SSF Council Urged

MAKING IT OFFICIAL at the South San Francisco City Hall Monday were a group of petition-gatherers filing 2200 signatures with City Clerk Arthur Rodondi. The petition, spearheaded by Atty. David Friedenberg (center), seeks to have the councilmen rescind, or put to the voters, an earlier decision that approved a controversial overpass at the extension of Westborough Boulevard. 2200 Signing Petition Consider Vote Of People An Alternative

By BOB PETERSON
Post-Times Writer

A petition, containing more than 2,200 signatures asking South San Francisco councilmen to rescind, or put to a vote, an earlier action approving a controversial overpass, was filed at City Hall Tuesday.

The overpass has been proposed at the extension of Westborough Boulevard.

Councilmen Monday night quietly accepted the report by attorney David Friedenberg that 1,800 residents had succeeded in their referendum effort.

Friedenberg, of 2395 Bourbon Court, a leader of the referendum movement, told the councilmen, "We have far exceeded our goal of 1,800 signatures. They'll be filed at 9 a.m. tomorrow (Tuesday)."

Law requires a ten per cent of the voter registration. This would be in the neighborhood of 1,700 votes. The petitions are believed to contain closer to 2,200 names.

Before announcing the success of the referendum drive, Friedenberg referred back to the May 18 meeting, in which the council on a 3-2 vote hastily approved the overpass as one of the darkest days of South San Francisco city government.

"The people were denied their right to protest, to dissent, to be heard," said Friedenberg. "I knew we won't always agree, but if the democratic process is to work, matters of this nature should be done openly, and put on the agenda."

"Since May 18, something encouraging has happened," continued Friedenberg. "People have shown that they do care, that they are concerned. They've shown that they won't tolerate back room politics and legal moves. I hope this council has learned something from this referendum."

One other speaker on the subject was August Chevalier, of 2800 Leix Way, whose main stress was on the fact the council majority did not heed advice of hired professional people.

"We hope in the immediate future that you folks will listen to your hired, with South San Francisco taxpayer money, professional recommendations."

One lady, who failed to identify herself but said she didn't live in the Buri Buri section of the city which has been pro overpass regardless, spoke briefly, saying, "we're not afraid of your referendum."

The referendum effort began after Mayor Patrick Ahern and Councilmen Frank Bertucelli and William Borba voted over the protests of fellow councilmen Frank Mammini and Warren Steinkamp to approve the overpass at a council session at which the overpass was not an agenda item.

Mammini and Steinkamp were not even aware the matter was to be brought up, until Councilman Borba, who avoided mention of it at the 4:30 p.m. precouncil session, brought the matter up at the 8 p.m. meeting.

Petitioning residents contended the councilman hired professional advice they refused to use, even went against staff recommendations against the overpass, and mainly that if the city is to spend in the neighborhood of $100,000 the people should have an opportunity to voice their opinions.

The overpass question has been a political football for better than three years when Buri Buri residents claim they were promised an overpass and the money had been set aside for the overcrossing.

It has been built, torn down and rebuilt at numerous council meetings.

A vote of the people will now determine whether, or where, it will be built, unless, of course the councilmen voluntarily rescind their previous action.

Over Protests

SSF Votes To Launch Storm Drain Project

Over protests of 75 per cent of affected property owners South San Francisco councilmen Monday night voted unanimously to begin the South Maple Avenue-South Canal Street relief pump and storm drain project.

The firm of Wenrick and Associates of Menlo Park was awarded the contract with a low bid of $94,996.40. Engineer's estimate for the project was $98,382. The city agreed to pay half the cost with 50 per cent to be paid through an assessment district.

Construction will include reinforced concrete storm drainage pipes, catch basins, manholes and appurtenances, plus two 3,600 gallon-a-minute relief pumps.

Opposition was led by property owner Walter I. Amos, who said, "There don't seem to be any alternatives. It seems to be a steam-rolling project."

Amos contended the plan for flood control was not complete, timing was poor and the city "was not going into details." He said property owners would have welcomed a "get-together" explanation, and no mention was made of attempting to improve the present flood control pump station.

Joel Bauman of the firm of Bauer-Cooperage said he supported the idea but was protesting "the way it was decided upon." He apparently felt not enough property owners were being included in the assessment district, and indicated the assessment should include property owners from those areas from which the water flows down to the lower area being assessed.

Al Shansky, who said he represented Linden Company, S&Q Construction Company and others, told the councilmen the project was "make-shift" and would not solve the problem.

"We would be willing to pay if we felt what we're paying for would do the job. We'd like to see some improvement but don't feel the suggested improvement is the best," said Shansky.

Director of Public Works Lou

Goss had ready answers to all complaints, citing the long history of flooding in the area.

Goss said the city has been negotiating with the Army Corps of Engineers for many years to improve the Colma Creek flooding problem.

However, according to Goss even if the city were to spend $10 million to $15 million for a comprehensive flood control project, there still would be a

Youth Drug Use Down In County

By VIRGIL WILSON

Encouraging signs that the incidence of juvenile drug use has "turned the corner" in San Mateo County are seen by county officials in the results of the third annual survey of students in public, private and parochial schools.

Statistician Lilian S. Blackford of the County Health and Welfare Department said the study revealed that teen-age drug use, which showed a sharp increase last year, decreased in most categories.

"It looks like we are turning the corner," County Superintendent of Schools J. Russell Kent enthused.

Figures Still High

Health and Welfare Director Dr. Harold D. Chope agreed, but said there is another aspect of the picture "and both things ought to be pointed out."

"I don't want to sound pessimistic," Dr. Chope said, "but I wouldn't want to encourage people to think the problem is all solved. After all, 51 per cent admitted using amphetamines and 17 per cent LSD. Those are still high figures."

Kent agreed that the drug situation, despite the decreases, remains "a very critical and depressing problem."

Bigger Response

Mrs. Blackford said 35,145 students responded to the survey this year, compared with 25,883 last year and 18,774 in 1968. (Please See Page 2, Column 5)

San Mateo Superior Court Judge Conrad Reisch, 47, one of the Bay Area's most respected jurists, died suddenly on Sunday while leading a group of San Mateo Boy Scouts on a camping expedition at Kennedy Meadows near Sonoma.

'Better' Jet Noise Ban Suit Sought

South San Francisco City Attorney John Noonan has 30 days to seek a "better" lawsuit to ban jet noise from the city or else file a class action suit suggested by Councilman Frank Mammini.

When Mammini voiced his intention to form a motion to file the class action suit against the airport operators, Noonan said he had "some reservations of the city entering into it."

Noonan said property owners and the school district have the strongest position for suits, since they could seek recovery of property damages. A city's position, however, should be one of attempting to regulate, according to Noonan.

"I would like to file action with the understanding that if I can come up with a better approach within 30 days we'll do it that way," said Noonan.

"The city must address itself to asking for regulation of airlines in some manner, such as glide angles or decibel levels. I hesitate using damage action for the city. If there is a wiser course, I would like to go that way within 30 days."

Mammini had no objections to this. But added, "Pressures must be brought to bear on airport operators. Before lawsuits were filed, they wouldn't even listen. Since suits (such as one in Inglewood in Southern California next to Los Angeles International Airport) have been filed contributing noise factors, such as smaller loads and different flight patterns, have been changed. As long as we keep quiet they'll do nothing," said Mammini.

NOTHING BUT SMOULDERING debris awaited Cow Palace officials and Flea Market operators early Sunday after fire demolished more than half of the south exhibit building. Fire officials conservatively estimated damage at $150,000 Monday, but they said it could go much higher.

Merchants In D.C. Gird For Tax Boost Encounter

By FRANK LAPIERRE
Post-Times Writer

Merchants are girding for an all-out battle with the Daly City council on June 22 over the proposed business license tax that will reportedly bring an estimated $250,000 into the city's coffers.

City manager David Rowe, in a series of meetings with business leaders and appearances at various civic organizations, has presented the city's viewpoint on the matter and reasons surrounding the need for the dramatic increase in the permit fees.

Rowe's reasons are simple: "We must relieve the property owner of the burden of increased costs of city government. Without this business license tax the property owner would have to bear the full burden through increased property taxes."

The City Manager told The Post Thursday that there will be no decrease in the property tax to homeowners if the proposed business license tax is passed.

But he warned that there is a strong possibility the current rate will increase as the need for expanded city services expand.

It was the first indication Daly City's new budget will be higher than last year's $6 million however Rowe declined to talk on this subject.

In outlining his proposal at the Board of Director's meeting of the Daly City-Colma Chamber of Commerce Thursday Rowe said the present income from business licenses in the community is $40,000.

Businesses are charged only $18 annually to operate regardless of size or nature of business.

This figure is the same as the cost of a license in 1924, it was explained.

Using a minimum increase for growing city service of only five per cent, coupled with last year's budget of $6 million, the city will have to come up with another $300,000 to make ends meet.

This would be an estimated 30 cents on homeowner's 1971 tax rate.

The tax rate for homeowners in Daly City has steadily increased from $1.17 per $100 of assessed valuation in 1965-66 to (Please See Page 2, Column 2)

Public Hearing Rules Set On Business License Tax

Ground rules were laid Monday for the upcoming June 22 public hearing on the proposed business license tax which has already caused considerable protest among merchants in the community.

Mayor Bernard (Bud) Lycett suggested the meeting start promptly at 8 p.m. inside the council chambers at City Hall and individuals desiring to discuss the new increased tax are to be allowed five minutes to make their presentations.

Representatives of groups will be given 30 minutes, Lycett further suggested.

Both the council and several merchants attending the Monday night study session agreed. They felt the time allotment would cut down on any repetitious arguments either for or against the proposed ordinance.

"I intend to let anyone that wants to speak, speak," Lycett said in making his recommendations known.

He said the public hearing may be continued until the following week "if time runs out on us" and ventured the council would need two weeks to digest what they had heard during the hearing before taking any action.

City Manager David Rowe said the proposed tax ordinance does not require a public hearing, however the council had insisted on it.

If agreed upon by the council, it will become effective in early October, Rowe speculated.

Rowe drafted the revenue-producing ordinance, he said, in an effort to shift the increasing financial burden off the shoulders of the city's property owners.

In some cases the tax will increase the present $18 annual fee (which is the same as 1924) to an estimated $10,000.

"They want too much, too fast," one concerned merchant commented after reading the draft proposal.

Most of the city's business community — which now plunks an annual $40,000 into the city's coffers — agree that the present setup is not equitable, but think the bite should be applied gradually.

"It's like a guy that rides a horse all his life and trades it in on a jet plane."

Big Cow Palace Building Burns - A $250,000 Loss

A spacious Cow Palace Exhibit building roof collapsed and another was heavily damaged, after flames ate away huge support timbers and consumed thousands of Flea Market items early Sunday.

The Daly City fire went unnoticed for some time, then burst into a spectacular blaze that caused a conservatively estimated $250,000 damage.

The main arena building of the famed Daly City Cow Palace was not endangered.

Structural damage to the South Exhibit building was $200,000.

Thousands of miscellaneous items were inside the building as part of the weekly Flea Market, and authorities placed the loss to those contents at $50,000.

Firemen said the blaze had been burning for sometime, hidden from view and contained by the concrete walls and corrugated steel roof. Flames finally belched out the top, after burning the roof support timbers and other flammables inside, at 3:32 a.m.

No one was hurt. Fire Chief Herb Ritzmann, who directed the operations at the Cow Palace blaze, said he had met with state architectural and Cow Palace officials, who estimated $200,000 would be required to rebuild the South Exhibit Building.

First reports were that the loss to the structure would be $150,000.

Ritzmann said though the cause remains undetermined, the blaze apparently started in the southeast corner of the building.

More than 60 men and equipment from four fire departments fought the blaze, which was discovered at 3:32 a.m. in a building complex that houses a large flea market every weekend.

Daly City Councilmen Unhappy About Tourism Contributions

Daly City isn't happy with the way their contributions to the County are being used to promote tourism in that city.

The agreement between the city and San Mateo County providing for the distribution of 25 per cent of the local hotel-motel tax to the County for promotion and servicing of conventions and tourism expires June 30.

And city manager David Rowe informed the city council Monday he is not enthusiastic about renewing a pledge of 25 per cent of the estimated annual $20,000 collected from motels.

Matter of fact Rowe has recommended Daly City follow in the steps of the majority of other cities in the county and fork over "ten per cent but not more than $2,000" to the county's Fair and Convention Association fund.

Mayor Bernard (Bud) Lycett had some harsh words regarding what the county did with the money it received from cities.

He said it is used to promote the annual San Mateo County Fair.

And he branded the Fair nothing more than a glorified horse race.

But councilman McRobert (Mac) Stewart likes the Fair and told the council and staff so. "Maybe it's getting 'honky tonk' but we should support (the Fair)," Stewart said.

The county fair is as American as Mom and Apple Pie and focuses attention on the county in addition to giving residents a chance to display their wares, was councilman Stewart's view on the matter.

While half agreeing with Stewart, fellow councilman Frank Pacelli noted the Fair is in financial trouble and without the horse races would likely fold its ferris wheels and move on.

Pacelli felt there was a definite lack of interest in the Fair on the part of most cities within the county.

The current "confusion" between the Fair and Convention Association and the county has persuaded councilman Anthony Gianonna to "see what happens before we take action" on renewing the contract.

Rowe pointed out that Daly City is in company with a small band of other cities in the county — paying their full 25 per cent share annually since the law came into effect about three years ago.

The majority pay ten per cent while some — like Millbrae — pay only about five per cent.

Firm 'Trying' To Collect Old Papers

Officials of the San Bruno Garbage Company recently assured a group of concerned residents that every effort is being made to separately collect old newspapers.

According to these officials, they are not presently able to cover all areas due to limited truck capabilities.

Residential representation included Mrs. Barbara Ross and Mrs. Donna Elliott, both Rollingwood residents, and Councilman Ted Long.

General consensus of the residents was that the recycling of old newspapers could possibly become a youth project, and perhaps a city-wide paper drive could be arranged on a monthly or bi-monthly basis. This possibility is being studied further.

Garbage company officials also explained the set-up of garbage and trash pickups. They said properly wrapped papers, without magazine or cardboard inserted, should be placed on the curb during the trash pickup days only. This facilitates the use of the pickup truck in the early morning hours, removing the bundles before the trash truck makes normal trash pickups.

meet a budget of $4,668,931, to last year's $1.81 per $100 to meet the $6.1 million budget.

Asked if the city wasn't perhaps being frivolous with the taxpayer's monies, Rowe pointed to a comparative chart outlining seven Bay Area communities and costs for operation of city governments.

In all cases Daly City was either below or at par with the cities of Santa Clara, Mt. View, Redwood City (which conducted the survey), San Mateo, and Sunnyvale.

Rowe said in the "general Administration" category Daly City with a $3.6 salary figure indeed are well involved, "because it's costing them a pretty penny as taxpayers and citizens of the community."

The price of vandalism is continuing to soar, and South expects his end-of-June report on the subject to show even more monetary loss than last year's $32,000.

"I think it probably will be higher," South said, since it costs much money to repaint the exterior of an entire, sprawling school, to replace glass, and equipment destroyed in vandal-set fires.

Particularly this is true at Jefferson, which "off the top of my head," noted South, seems to be the hardest hit this year.

The responsibility for the vandalism itself seems to be that of "younger kids, not high school age," South declared. It's those youngsters "eight and nine, 12 and 13 years old" who are "deluging" the district with "problems."

Then there are those adults who won't... get involved. Dr. Vinton Stratton, associate superintendent at the Jefferson Elementary School District, reported a $20,000 glass replacement figure and a similar amount for miscellaneous vandalism costs.

A Resolution To Mother Of The Year

The Daly City Council has passed a resolution commending Mrs. Barbara Deschler for being named "National Armed Forces Mother of the Year" by the Armed Forces Y.M.C.A.

She is the first California resident to be so honored.

Mrs. Deschler was chosen by the Marine Corps through her 19-year-old son, Stephen, who was selected as the outstanding Marine at his San Diego base.

In their resolution, the council said:

"Mrs. Deschler can be justly proud of her achievements not only in raising a son of Stephen's caliber but in raising five other children as well. In these days of the so-called 'generation gap' it is heartwarming to know that love, admiration and mutual respect still exists between parents and children."

Protests, But S.S.F. Votes Storm Drain

need for pumping facilities in the lowland area in question. He said the Corps of Engineers has confirmed this, too.

"If we would of had these pumps already installed we could have eliminated the flooding of the past 15 years," said Goss. "A 1955 report on Colma Creek and its tributaries recommended a pump and additional storm drains be put in to guide water into Colma Creek."

Goss also said he has had to appear as a witness for the city on several flood suits, and that every avenue had been explored, including expanding the present facility, before the assessment was even considered.

The city's bond counsel Ken Jones explained that the original petition for assessed improvement contained signatures of 25 per cent of the property owners.

Normally, in order for the city to move on such assessments a 60 per cent compliance is necessary. But should the councilmen feel the improvements are essential and necessary to the city and its residents they could overrule the protests with a four-fifths vote.

Jones wanted to clarify his position that his function of the setting up of the assessment was "a proper legal assessment spread and as fair and equitable as can be done," and it was up to the councilmen to determine the necessity.

Youth Drug Use Down In County

survey included every public, private and parochial high school in the county with the exception of those in the South San Francisco Unified District.

Their attitude," Dr. Choche observed, "is that they know they have a drug problem in South San Francisco, so why survey it?" The study also included most of the private and parochial junior high schools and about half of the public junior highs.

Of the 35,145 responses this year, 19,393 were made by seventh and eighth graders.

Mrs. Blackford said San Mateo County is the only county in the nation with a statistical study of this scope.

Students were asked to state whether, within the past year, they had used tobacco, alcohol, LSD, marijuana or amphetamines, and to indicate whether they had used them less than ten times or ten times or more.

In All Classifications

The results indicated that, after sharp increases last year in all categories except tobacco, there were decreases this year in nearly all classifications.

Dr. Kent, whose department sponsored the survey jointly with the Health and Welfare Department, credited increasing evidence of the harmfulness of drugs and effective educational programming as two apparent reasons for the decrease.

"You're not going to get results from kids by saying, 'That's a no-no,'" Dr. Kent said. "You have to show them hard evidence."

Dr. Choche said three or more neighborhood conferences will be scheduled for this fall.

Need for Involvement

"We need to get a lot of parents and kids involved," he declared. "One of the big problems is that parents don't recognize the symptoms of drug usage in their kids."

Kent said his department will be developing educational programs for parents during the coming year.

The school official noted that many of the children who said they used drugs or alcohol got them out of the family medicine cabinet or had wine with a meal with the approval of their parents. Mrs. Blackford said much of the alcohol use was "strictly ceremonial, occasional."

Dr. Choche noted that no effort was made to get figures on what is generally considered to be a growing menace, the use of heroin.

Area of Increase

"There is good clinical evidence, however," he said, "that its use is increasing in the upper high school grades and among young adults."

Dr. Kent's assistant for education, Armin D. Weems, said he has become convinced that the time to start education on the drug menace is in the early grades, perhaps as early as the fourth.

It was noted that the use of tobacco decreased, generally, both this year and last. The officials gave credit to the anti-smoking spot commercials on television.

Mrs. Blackford made these observations:

"At the junior high school level, almost every rate of usage was lower this year than what was shown by the sample studied last year. The exceptions were slightly higher rates in the use of alcohol.

Findings

"At the senior high school level, tobacco, LSD and amphetamine usage was generally less this year, class by class, and for both sexes. Marijuana rates rose, but much less than between 1968 and 1969. With alcohol, the boys seemed to be drinking a little less and the girls a little more than in 1969.

"In general, girls have lower rates of usage than boys, but this difference is diminishing."

Some statistics from the study: Among senior boys, 80.6 per cent admitted using alcohol at least once, but less than 10 times, during the preceding year. The figure was down 1.3 per cent; 52.1 per cent admitted using tobacco, down 6 per cent; marijuana, 50.9 per cent, down

0.8 per cent; LSD, 17.4 per cent, down 5.6 per cent; amphetamine, 18.8 per cent, down 6.9 per cent.

Fire Razes Cow Palace Structure

gantic Cow Palace area building, the damaged portion actually consists of three large halls, interconnected by fire doors.

The contents destroyed were those of flea market exhibitors.

Daly City Battalion Chief Mel Hansen explained that the buildings have walls of thick concrete. The roof of each is of corrugated steel with a heavy coating of tar and paper.

These factors, plus locked steel doors, kept the fire from being detected for some time, the authorities noted.

Chief Hansen said the blaze had smoldered for a long time, but he was unable to give an approximate length of time.

In fact, so secure was the building firemen had to take cutting torches to the large steel doors to make entry.

"California locks" on the door prohibited entry immediately, the officer explained, adding: "If we could have got in there quicker we could have done a better job."

The eastern-most portion of the three buildings was demolished, the roof collapsing when heavy interior, supporting timbers were burned through.

The middle section was heavily damaged and its roof is perilously near collapsing. Chief Hansen said a "strong wind" could cause it to fall because its supporting timbers are nearly burned through.

The third section, he said, was undamaged.

Helping to extinguish the "very hot" fire were firemen and equipment from San Francisco, San Bruno, South San Francisco and Brisbane departments.

All of Daly City's off-duty personnel were recalled.

Firemen from Station 3, nearly across the street from the blaze, first responded, with San Francisco units, also nearby, following soon after.

Central Station personnel in the Westlake region responded on third alarm.

Firemen had the blaze under control within an hour, but mopping up activity kept them on the scene until 10 a.m.

Periodic checks of the area continued throughout the day and last night.

The three halls, built by WPA workers, provide 62,000 square feet for the flea market, exhibits and housing of varied livestock throughout the year.

Chief Hansen said there were "thousands of items, everything imaginable to burn — and it did" — at the weekend flea market.

Most everything in the eastern section of the building was destroyed, though "some of the stuff" in the center portion might be salvaged.

A south wind was blowing embers onto other buildings — but none of them were ignited.

The Cow Palace is a state-owned facility. Its property is in both San Mateo and San Francisco's municipal boundaries.

A LARGE PORTION of the huge south exhibit building and some $50,000 in Flea Market exhibit contents lay in ruins as main Cow Palace arena stands unperiled behind the debris.

Seek Opinion On 'Conflict'

The Jefferson Elementary School District's Board of Trustees is seeking an opinion from the San Mateo County District Attorney's office on whether or not one of its members, a City of Daly City employee, might be in conflict.

A motion to obtain the opinion was offered by the very man in question, Ed Tomasello, who is the city's recreation superintendent.

A few citizens, among them Morris Tolson last week, have believed Tomasello was in conflict of interest recently when he initiated a motion authorizing the school district to contribute $46,000 from its Civic Center Funds to the Daly City Recreation Department for playground operation.

Tomasello had never voted on the annual budget matter in the past several years he has been on the board, however a 2-2 deadlock developed this year and Tomasello — recalling a ruling a few years back, he said, and believing himself not to be in any conflict — eventually cast the deciding vote.

Tolson pointed out that District Supt. Frank Greenwood has been instructed to contact the district attorney or attorney general on the matter in the past.

A Mutual Pledge To Work At Averting Strike

By WILL E. THOMAS
Post City Editor

Representatives for both the Jefferson Elementary School District administration and its teachers last week pledged to work toward negotiation of an agreement that would avert a strike called by teachers for the first day of next year's school term.

Some of the basic differences were spelled out for a group of 60-plus parents and teachers at Colma Intermediate School, where an informational meeting was moderated by Al Teglia, the chairman of the Jefferson High School District's Board of Trustees.

Dr. Vinton Stratton, an associate superintendent, was a last minute substitute for District Superintendent Frank Greenwood as the administrative representative at the information session.

The principal teacher speaker was Dennis O'Leary, a member of the Negotiating Council and a Colma Intermediate School teacher.

Speaking briefly during the program was Mrs. Joan Hemphill, a Colma K-6 teacher, president of the Jefferson Classroom Teachers Association.

Negotiation sessions are being held regularly, but "progress is slow," O'Leary said. Paul Hupf, Daily City attorney, is the Board of Trustees' designated representative on the Negotiating Council.

The teachers' association (JCTA) apparently has believed negotiations to be progressing too slowly. After a series of meetings, the association's members voted overwhelmingly to strike on the first day of the new term next year, should agreement not be reached with the district.

It is the JCTA's main concern at this time that the parents "understand why it has become necessary to take the kind of vote we did," Mrs. Hemphill said.

One of the key issues in the negotiations is the JCTA "proposed Comprehensive Professional Agreement" that was drafted in April.

The proposed one-year pact includes not only existing district policies, but a variety of other suggestions that, O'Leary pointed out, spell out conditions of employment, classroom size, teacher loads and assignments, grievance procedures and "minimal educational conditions."

O'Leary said the teachers are "attempting to improve school conditions in this district."

The teachers also are asking for a 12 per cent salary increase, which they indicate would "make up for what they have lost" in the past five years.

O'Leary commented that the teachers have "subsidized" the district "by accepting less salary than they have coming for the work they do."

The proposed raise, he said, would bring the Jefferson teachers into an "approximate equality" with the cost of living.

Teachers work between 175-176 days annually for variable hours daily and in order to progress both economically and educationally, must attend summer classes at colleges or universities from time to time—a minimum of six units every four years, O'Leary said.

Jefferson Elementary's salary schedule starts at $6630 for teachers without experience and with four years' college or university training. After 12 years the salary is $13,260.

Teachers with five years' college come in at a higher scale—$920 more.

It was pointed out that teacher salaries in the Jefferson district rank 58th out of 78 in the Bay Area.

O'Leary contrasted the teacher with a tradesman who gets paid while being trained under an apprenticeship program, while the teacher is not paid for getting his college education.

The tradesman may move into full journeyman scale at the end of four years, but the new teacher must start at a "real low, very low" beginning-teacher salary.

The teacher, he said, does not make as much in 12 years as most trade members made at the end of their four-year apprenticeship.

Teachers, however, get ten weeks off in the summer, get an additional sum ($733 this year) for summer school program teaching, two weeks off for Christmas and one week for Easter.

Dr. Stratton said he was in favor—"as is the board"—of giving teachers a pay raise.

The question is "the nature of the raise."

He said the district does not know the source of additional funds for raises, acknowledging that "by revenues anticipated, the board is limited in its ability to handle raises."

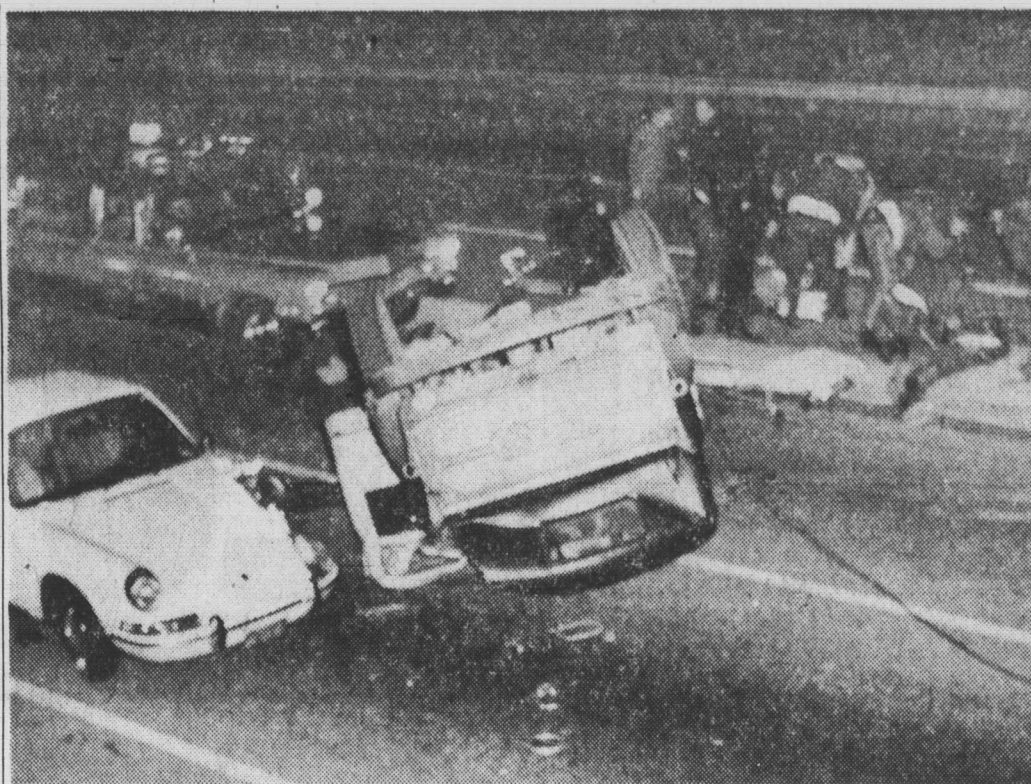

The Jefferson Elementary School District's Board of Trustees is not totally opposed to certain items contained in the proposed Jefferson Classroom Teachers' Association master agreement, Dr. Vinton Stratton, associate superintendent for instruction.

Dr. Stratton also talked about the proposed impasse procedure requested by the JCTA, stating that the board's position is that the board was elected by the people "to represent the taxpayers' interest to the best of their ability."

The board believes it was elected to make the decisions, not a "third party," as he understood the impasse proposal.

O'Leary explained the suggested procedure as a means to call for mediation—not arbitration—at the declaration of an impasse.

If mediation fails, "fact find-

Gas Container Explodes, SSF Mother Is Burned

A South San Francisco mother who raced back inside her burning home to save her three-year-old daughter trapped in an upper bedroom suffered first and second degree burns of the face and hands on Friday afternoon.

The daughter of Mrs. James P. Johnston received facial burns as the mother fled the home through a flaming hallway carrying the small child.

Investigators said Mrs. Johnston was apparently trying to start a fire in the fireplace of her home at 2254 Henry Way about 2:30 p.m. using a gallon can of gasoline.

As she poured the gasoline on the fire it flashed back and the can exploded in flames in her hand.

Mrs. Johnston began running from the house with the flaming can, but dropped it in the hallway, which quickly began burning.

The mother dashed back through the flaming hallway to her daughter Patricia's room on an upper floor, grabbed the child and once again ran back through the flames to escape the inferno.

Firemen extinguished the blaze and estimated damage at $3,000 to the building and contents in the hallway area.

Signal Priority List Is Urged

Establishment of a priority list for future installation of signal lights at various intersections has been urged by Pacifica Public Works Director Dave Thompson.

Thompson said stop and go lights can be justified by traffic and safety reason along Linda Mar Boulevard at DeSoto Drive, Peralta and Adobe Road, as well as the freeway overpass on West Manor Drive.

The city is short of funds to make the improvements all at

IT'S A FACT
BACK ON THE TRACK WITH JACK
By JACK WILSON

America is your country. Do you want to save it? Do you believe as I do that no government can exist in peace unless laws are made and not broken in order to assure each of us the free exercise of conscience, the right and control of property, and the protection of life? That this country needs civil officials who will enforce the laws and a damns it to them in equity and justice?

That we must vote for and uphold good men in this Democratic Republic? That we should sustain and uphold this Government? That sedition and rebellion are unbefitting any citizen protected by the law and should be punished accordingly? That every man should be honored in his office having been chosen for the protection of the innocent and the punishment of the guilty? Therefore all men owe respect to the law since without it peace will be replaced by anarchy and terror.

It has been shown that with your financial support you can send your "WRITE IN" candidate to Congress. Your dollar may mean the winning vote. Please make checks payable to:

Communication Is Subject Of Woe

South San Francisco councilmen and personnel board members talked for better than an hour on three subjects Wednesday night, prompting this apologetic remark from Mayor Patrick Ahern: "There certainly has to be something wrong. There's too much confusion. I see a real need for communication."

The joint meeting was a request of the personnel board. Chairman Frank O'Brien explained there was a desire "for a meeting of minds."

Apparently, exclusion of the personnel board by not officially notifying them of results following adoption of the recent wage and job classification survey bothered the board members.

"We remained uninformed, with no notification of results, and no copy of the new pay plan has been received," said O'Brien.

City Mgr. Tom McKenzie pointed out approving of classifications and wages is something the council acts on and not a responsibility of the personnel board.

No other explanation was given as to why the board had not received notification of results. But McKenzie's response apparently also was in answer to an unasked question of why the council had not sought out the board's opinion on matters of wages and classifications.

O'Brien referred to a memo dated September 5, 1968, which made mention of a council study session in which the board was directed to "initiate a research program concerning the feasibility of changing job classification titles to conform with those of surrounding cities."

According to the memo, the council was to have a reply back from the board within 60 days. Three months later the council was informed the project was "almost done." The project, however, was never completed.

Incidentally, it should be pointed out that during this time period the city was temporarily without the services of a city manager.

When McKenzie was hired he recommended the state personnel board, through its cooperative personnel services, implement a classification and salary survey report for administrative and department head classes, as well as regular employees.

This is the survey, approved with various changes by the council, being hashed over by the councilmen and board members.

O'Brien said the board was concerned with the position of parking enforcement officer, in that the salary range was too low for the responsibility of the job.

Another problem area seemed to be the wage and classification schedule at the city's treatment plant.

These matters are to be taken up in later personnel board sessions for further discussion and official recommendation to the council at a later date. —B.P.

'Schoolboy Stuff' Says Judge Scott

Superior Court Judge Edmund Scott Thursday refused to order the Jefferson School District to accept the signed employment forms tendered by members of the Jefferson Classroom Teachers Association.

"This is schoolboy stuff, all very immature," Judge Scott said of the dispute before him. The jurist urged a compromise.

The court action was brought by the 400-member JCTA to force the district to accept the particular employment forms the association had devised. Forms sent out by the district for the 1970-71 school year ask the teachers simply to indicate whether they intend to return next year. The substitute forms devised and signed by the association members make acceptance conditional upon negotiation of terms and conditions of employment.

In denying the peremptory writ of mandate requested by the teachers, Judge Scott suggested to opposing counsel, Deputy District Attorney James Foley for the district and Peter T. Galiano, lawyer for the teachers, that they compromise by agreeing to use both forms.

Foley agreed on behalf of the district and Galiano said he would confer with association leaders.

Judge Scott said the dispute involves "a matter of semantics."

Drug Arrest In Daly City

Daly City Policeman Fred Holewinski arrested four youths — including two young girls — after he spotted them allegedly using drugs inside a parked car Thursday afternoon.

According to reports, Holewinski was using an unmarked police car when he noticed the suspects using marijuana. He pursued the car and succeeded in stopping it in San Bruno.

Arrested and charged with possession of marijuana, heroin and dangerous restricted drugs were: Thomas Delayhouse, 19, of Los Altos; George Sullivan, 18, of Menlo Park; Robert Goodman, of Napa; and Adrienne Donnelly.

S.S.F. Store Burglarized

Theft of 16 guns, two portable television sets and $420 in cash has been reported to the South San Francisco police by Schiandri Hardware, 306 Grand Ave.

Police said the burglar removed the glass from the skylight and apparently lowered himself with a rope.

Total loss was valued at $3,705.95, which included shotguns, rifles and revolvers.

Engineer Aide To S.S.F. Firm

Gordon C. Craig, an engineer for 35 years, has joined S&Q Construction Co. of South San Francisco as engineering coordinator and will assist the vice-president for business development.

His experience includes marine engineering; central steam electric generating stations; nuclear and fossil-fueled; industrial plant design; foundry and machine shop practices; design management; and sales engineering.

Negotiator Is Suggested

South San Francisco Councilman Frank Mammini at the council study session last week suggested the possibility of obtaining an outside negotiator to represent the council in matters of salaries and fringe benefits with employees.

Mammini pointed out the present situation of having the city manager act as negotiator puts him in an awkward position with the employees.

"I become an adversary to the employees," commented City Manager Tom McKenzie. "I don't like that particular position, although I guess it's part of the job."

Mammini disagreed that it needed to be part of the job, saying, "negotiations are not a prime requisite of the city manager job. It would be better to bring someone in who speaks the same language. I think the employees union representative would prefer talking with a professional negotiator, too."

Mayor Patrick Ahern's initial response was that the outside man wouldn't know local conditions and problems.

Mammini said the council would simply give the negotiator its policy and "he goes by that policy."

Ahern said it is something that undoubtedly be seriously considered, especially since negotiations soon will be upon them.

Money Is Set Aside

Instead of earmarking the money now, South San Francisco officials have chosen to put aside two annual $65,511 shares of TOPICS funds until a definite program of use is established.

Under the federal program a city could expend the monies for a specific purpose, let them accumulate (as South San Francisco is doing), assign them to another agency within an urban area under a cooperative agreement, or give them up for redistribution.

Heads Drive

Councilman Harland Minshew will direct the City of Pacifica's push to obtain voter approval of a $2,500,000 general obligation bond issue July 28.

The bond issue, to allow expansion of the city's sewage disposal system, will be held in conjunction with the special Laguna Salada School District housing election.

RICHARD MILLS

Dick Mills Is Promoted To Hillsdale

Richard D. Mills has been promoted to assistant vice president in Bank of America's Hillsdale Branch.

Mills moves up from assistant manager of the Ninth and Market Branch in San Francisco. He previously headed the El Camino-San Bruno Branch in San Bruno.

Active in civic affairs, he is currently treasurer of the California Heart Association and was chairman of the board of the San Mateo County chapter for two years. He has also held offices in the Westlake Merchants Association and the Women's Voters League of North San Mateo County and is currently active in Boy Scouts activities. He and his wife, Mary, reside at 420 Hazlewood Drive, South San Francisco, with their four children.

Beautification Awards Given

Painting trash cans has been a rewarding experience for four San Bruno youths.

Councilmen recently presented beautification awards to Cher White, first place; Wendy MacGibbon and Lisa Wait, second place; and Steve Paoli, third place, for their part in a "paint-in" involving the decoration of the city's trash cans.

Plan Offered For Park

A preliminary sketch plan of a proposed Shoreline Regional Park off South San Francisco's bay boundary has been submitted to the councilmen by the recreation commissioners.

The commission approved in principle the preliminary sketch plan prepared by Hahn, Wise and Associates, provided there is consideration given to inclusion of a golf course.

City Planner Dan Pass submitted the plan to the commissioners for their review. Planning consultant Neal Martin described the proposal.

The recreation commission also has approved the proposed beautification program set forth by the planning commissioners. Projects include the civic center, park and the urban core in addition to shoreline park.

TERRA NOVA HIGH TOPICS

By Anne Dryden

Terra Nova's Class of 1970 celebrated the conclusion of four years of high school at their All Night Party last Friday following graduation. Dancing, swimming, volleyball, movies, and eating were a few of the activities in which they indulged during the sentimental evening, which for many, was a last chance to see old friends before leaving for jobs, college, or marriage.

Over 1,500 parents and friends crammed into the TN gym to watch the over 300 graduates receive their diplomas. Actually, each graduate was only handed the jacket cover to his diploma, and received his genuine diploma after turning in his cap and gown following the commencement exercises.

The Class of '70 strayed from the traditional all black cap and gown ensemble this year, with lady graduates in white and gentlemen in black. Also, as an economy measure, gold citation cord bearers (high honor students) were given one cord instead of the traditional two. Also new in the graduation tradition department was an ecumenical Baccalaureate Service held on Friday morning at St. Peter's Church. Clergy from local Episcopal, Presbyterian, American Baptist, Roman Catholic and Lutheran churches were represented at the service, the Rev. Ed Gaffney of St. Peter's was the speaker.

Seniors gathered for their senior breakfast last Wednesday morning before their first graduation practice. Under the direction of Principal Thomas Panagoulas and George Hinkle, seniors were located in their proper seats and rows for graduation, and the long, boring rehearsals began.

Underclassmen sat in their new class sections to watch the seniors at the Graduation Assembly held Thursday. They also heard Ed Dellarocca, valedictorian; Andy Dowsett, salutatorian; and Sandi Felix, class speaker present their commencement speeches.

The days proceeding graduation and graduation practice were filled with final tests, grades, checking-out and year-book signing. While freshmen, sophomores and juniors confidently wrote "See you next year" in their friends' year-books, seniors realized it could be some time before they saw many of their friends again.

Graduation was a happy time for some seniors—a time of parties, presents, Disneyland and special attention—but for others it was rather sad and even depressing.

THE MARQUEE

Where Are The Franklins Today?

Everyone who went through high school thinks he knows all about Benjamin Franklin but it took a Broadway musical "1776" to really draw an interesting portrait of the famous American.

The Encyclopedia Britannica begins its five-page description of him with (1706-1790) "American printer, author, publisher, inventor, scientist, public servant and diplomat. Beyond question he was one of the best known and most admired men in the world... and has remained a prominent and symbolic figure in the American gallery of heroes. His life and his thoughts, however, were so complex and so marked by apparent contradictions that he has puzzled some of his most sensitive interpreters.

That was written before Peter Stone and Sherman Edwards got together on book and music and lyrics. And while the character eluded the author of "Benjamin Franklin" and its portrayer, Robert Preston, a few seasons back, Rex Everhart has it all together on the stage of the Curran Theater where the show continues through this week to the Civic Light Opera.

FRANKLIN IS ONLY ONE OF THE MORE PROMINENT SIGNERS of the Declaration of Independence and Everhart didn't originate the role. But with all due respect for Howard De Silva who became ill and was replaced by the Pasadena Playhouse alumnus, Everhart is a definitive Franklin in stature, personality and appearance.

"Franklin's life is an open book. I didn't have to dig too deeply to develop the character. The trauma was to wear a skull textured plastic skull piece under the wig. It made me look like old Ben had flunked his Wasserman. So I shaved my head, which threw my six-year-old daughter into a panic," the youngish actor explained. He adds about 30 years to his appearance to portray the 70-year-old statesman.

Two years at acting school, a choice he made after quitting the University of Missouri as a pre-med student, was preparation for Broadway. Others in his class at Pasadena went into films but he never fell into that trap. Five years in the Navy altered his plans a bit but after receiving his Master's Degree at N.Y. University, he knew there was only one place for him and it was the legitimate stage.

WHEN HE ISN'T MANEUVERING AND MANIPULATING the politicians in "1776," he does commercials in N.Y., performs regularly with the Stratford Shakespeare company, tends to his family and 189-year-old salt box house in Westport, Conn. and commutes to Broadway.

"I've always been fond of history but the Civil War is more my period. I don't suppose they'll get around to a musical on that, it was too black a period. The closest they've gotten is the Harold Rome musical based on 'Gone With The Wind' that is playing now in Tokyo. I think they'll bring it to Broadway."

Franklin was such a glorious figure, it must be a joy to play him. An actor's ego can't resist the image of a man who was sexy, urbane, sophisticated, wealthy from royalties, athletic (he would be an Olympic swimmer today) and the first nudist. He set up the post office system and was the first post master general, founded the Philosophical Society, served as an ambassador in Europe for 12 years and spoke several languages.

Everhart handles it all with aplomb and the professionalism that makes you feel you know Franklin, the man, better.

YWCA Sets Its Summer Class Slate

The San Mateo County YWCA is pleased to announce its schedule of summer classes beginning the week of June 22 and continuing through the week of August 24. A wide variety of classes is offered this summer—some of the old favorites and a couple of brand new programs guaranteed to be of interest to everyone.

Ralph McNeil will once again instruct students in basic drawing and the fundamentals of painting. Classes are held at 45 Southgate Avenue in Daly City on Wednesday evenings.

Michel Martin, head chef of the San Francisco Merchants Exchange Club, begins his second semester with the YWCA. In this class you will learn to prepare basic family fare with better taste, variety and eye appeal. Classes are held at the Westlake Community Baptist Church on Wednesday evenings.

The "Y" is again offering Golf Lessons for beginners and continuing golfers. Ted Smith instructs Saturdays at Harding Park Golf Course with classes open for boys and girls 13 years and older as well as men and women.

Polly Sandkulla, a perennial favorite with "Y" members, will once again instruct in the fundamentals of Guitar, for beginners and advanced students. Her classes are held Tuesday evenings at St. Elizabeth's Episcopal Church in South San Francisco and Thursday evenings at 45 Southgate in Daly City.

If you still haven't learned the art of Hawaiian, Tahitian, Samoan and Maori dance, this is the perfect time to do so. Jerry Matlock's classes for adults are held Monday evenings at the Daly City War Memorial Building. Classes for teens, 13 years and over are held Tuesday afternoons at the Westlake Community Baptist Church and Wednesday afternoons at 3120 Dublin Drive, South San Francisco. There are also classes for the 4 to 7 age group and the 8 to 12 year olds, Tuesday at the Westlake Community Baptist Church and Wednesdays at 3120 Dublin Drive in South San Francisco.

Eleanor Petersen also begins her second semester with the YWCA, bringing her skill and experience with the sewing machine with her. Classes are held on Saturday mornings at the Westlake Community Baptist Church in Daly City. This class is open for teens 13 years and over as well as adults.

Another perennial favorite with the "Y" membership is Kahz Zmuda and she will again be presenting the Y's Way Trimmings program. Classes will be held Tuesday and/or Friday mornings in Daly City, and San Bruno depending on the size of enrollment.

Three new programs are being sponsored by the "Y" this summer. The first is a set of Driving Lessons, taught by James Vivian of the National Driving School. The classes include three one-hour lectures and also five hours of behind-the-wheel private instruction scheduled at the student's convenience. Classes are for 16 year olds and older.

The second new program is in Upholstery taught by Cal Cook at this upholstery studio in Pacifica. Classes are held on Monday and Thursday evenings in two summer sessions, beginning June 22 to July 23 and August 3 to September 3.

The third new course is one in charm for teens taught by Diane Darnell at the Homestead Savings and Loan Association, 130 West Portal Avenue in San Francisco. Diane is a model besides coordinating and commenting fashion shows. She has appeared in several TV shows and commercials and motion pictures. The course is similar to the one she has taught for Wards and Pacific Telephone. This is an excellent opportunity for teens in your family to learn poise, hair styling to fit them, posture, figure improvement and teen fashion. Classes are held in two sessions on Wednesday afternoons.

There are several junior programs as well as two children's dance classes also being offered this summer. For further information and a brochure, call the office of the YWCA, at 375 So. Mayfair Avenue in Daly City.

Louanne Heath's Datebook

EARLY SPRING VACATIONS often reunite families for graduations and weddings and such was the case for Mrs. Murray H. Freedman and son, Rick, just returned from Colorado Springs, Colo.

John Jacob Soltis Jr., the nephew of Mrs. Freedman, was graduated from the Air Force Academy in ceremonies which climaxed a very full schedule of June week activities.

Meeting in the Colorado Rockies for the occasion were the Freedmans and Soltis' mother, Mrs. John J. Soltis Sr., and sister, Mary, of Kenilworth, N.J.

The weather was less than cooperative, according to Emily, and much of the time cadets and guests were sloshing about through a miserable downpour. Despite the discomfort caused by the rain the localites took in the sights during their week in the mountains and refused to let the snow flurries deter them from touring the Royal Gorge and reaching the top of Pike's Peak.

Highlights of the academy's graduation week program were the dinner dance on Saturday evening, baccalaureate services in the uniquely lovely Air Force Academy Chapel, the demonstration of falconry, and the graduation ceremony featuring the Honorable Melvin R. Laird, Secretary of Defense, as the principal speaker, and Academy Superintendent Lt. General Thomas S. Moorman.

Young Soltis is on leave at present and plans to pay the Freedmans a visit before trekking eastward to attend his sister's wedding. He has been assigned to the Air Force training center in Austin, Tex.

Daly City friends of the Freedmans had the opportunity to meet Soltis' mother, Mary, when she visited her sister, Emily, earlier this year.

The Freedmans were disappointed in efforts to congratulate another Peninsula resident, Timothy George Herbert of Colma, who was among the graduates. The hectic pace of activities and the crush of people prevented them from ever having a private moment in which to attempt to locate him, Emily explained.

MEMBERS OF THE PENINSULA Senior Forum are busy preparing for next week's Senior Forum picnic which will be held in the San Mateo County Fair Grounds on Thursday.

Senior Citizens groups from the Peninsula area will be converging on the park for an afternoon of fun and to elect one man and one woman as the outstanding senior citizens of the year.

Edna Laurel Calhan, president of the Fifty Plus Club of Pacifica, is most hopeful that at least one of the awards will go to a Pacifica resident.

MEMBERS OF THE GOLDEN GATE Kindergarten Auxiliary held their annual Play Day at the St. Francis Yacht Club in San Francisco this past Wednesday.

The annual event was presided over by Mrs. Thomas Thomasser, the recently installed president of the auxiliary. Mrs. Helen Nemeschoff, director of the Volunteer Bureau, was the speaker. The role of the volunteer in the seventies was discussed.

Mrs. Howard Harden, former auxiliary president, headed the contingent of San Mateo County residents.

MRS. LUCILE SUTHERLIN is being sorely missed by the Pacifica art colony of which she was a long time member and leader.

Lucile was the president of the Art Guild of Pacifica prior to her resignation and move to Live Oak, Calif. Hermann Loger, vice president, has assumed the leadership of the guild.

SHOULD YOU HAVE a little time on your hands this summer and have an urge to be creative you will be interested to know that Dorothy Young will teach oil painting for the City of Daly City for eight weeks beginning today at 7 p.m. The classes will be on Wednesdays and last until 10 p.m. A registration fee of $14.50 is to be charged. Call 992-5356 to sign up.

A class in figure drawing will be offered at Westmoor High School on Mondays from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. beginning on June 23. The classes will be held in room 50 and you may register by attending the June 23 session with a $4 registration fee, an 18 by 24 sketch pad, charcoal, ink or water color supplies.

MRS. KATO MIHALOVICH is concluding a local visit with her son, Jack Mihalovich and his wife, Mina. Mrs. Mihalovich, who makes her home in Israel, has spent the past few weeks visiting and sightseeing and she wound up her stay with a weekend junket to Lake Tahoe and a Greek dinner at the Minerva in San Francisco.

Music will be provided by the J. J. Mad. The cost of the dance will be $1 for members and their guests. Also planned for senior teens is an outing to Santa Cruz on June 27.

The fee for these 10-week (20 lessons) series is $10 for residents and $11 for non-residents.

Only right-handed guitar students can be accepted. Students must provide their own guitar, floor-type music stand and a class music book.

The eight-week Junior Symphony Workshop will be on Mondays and Wednesdays from 10:30 a.m. to noon.

The Workshop will be an instructional training program in performance and fundamentals for students who have completed one year or more of school or private training on a band instrument (no stringed instruments).

The instructional rehearsals will start June 22 and end on August 12. A maximum of 16 students can be accepted per session. Students must furnish their own instrument and purchase two specific music books.

The fee for the 24 hours of Junior Symphony instruction is $12 for residents and $15 for non-residents.

The instructor will be Robert S. Bridges.

The South San Francisco Summer Symphony will begin its seventh season next week under the direction of Robert S. Bridges.

Tuesday, June 23, will be the band's first rehearsal and the first day of registration. Registration and the rehearsal will take place in the main auditorium of South San Francisco High School. The rehearsals are set to run from 7:15 to 9:30 p.m. every Tuesday and Friday evening during the eight-week program.

The symphony orchestra will rehearse on Wednesday nights also from 7:15 to 9:30 p.m.

The Symphony is open to any interested musicians and there will be only an informal audition for certain key positions. There is no fee for registration in the program and concerts will be given at the conclusion of the session by each of the two-performing groups.

The age groups involved vary from a talented young member in the band aged eleven to several senior citizens in the orchestra. The repertoire for the organization is drawn from several local private libraries and local public school and college libraries.

Lunch will be a cooperative affair, with each woman contributing to a Salad Sampler (Pacifica Branch also has a Gourmet Dinner each fall) and Kaye Reinherz has promised her specialty, Hootin' Owl Sangria — guaranteed to inspire zest for Action for a United Society.

Overpass Bids Opened

Estimated cost is over $4,000,000.

Alan S. Hart, district engineer, said the four-lane overpass crossing the railroad tracks would be 1,000 feet long.

This bridge, he said, is being constructed as part of Highway 380's "first stage," in order to "facilitate the hauling of 3,000,000 cubic yards of earth, on future projects."

At the same time, El Camino Real will be widened from a four-lane roadway, to a six-lane conventional highway with a 16-foot divider strip.

Construction is expected to begin by late summer, said Hart.

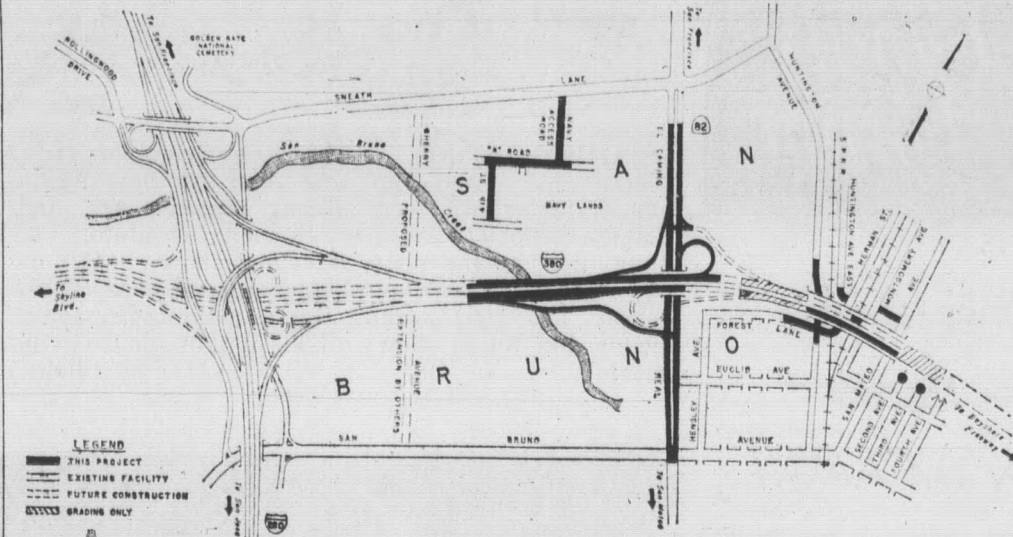

The other project, Hart announced, is more extensive.

Included in the proposal are: Widening Bayshore Freeway from Millbrae to South San Francisco, construction of a Route 380 overpass and interchange just north of the existing San Bruno Avenue overpass, reconstruction at the airport entrance overpass, and construction Route 380 connections at the airport shops area north and east of United's big maintenance base.

Some design features recall the 10-year-old plans for a "bay-front freeway" which supposedly have been discarded by the state.

Further information on the proposal can be had from the Division of Highways' District Four office at 150 Oak Street, San Francisco.

PROPOSED OVERPASS — Bids will be opened in Sacramento June 17 for the overpass project depicted in this illustration. The project is part of the Interstate Route 380 construction in San Mateo County.

Corrective Steps Taken At Crocker Elementary

The Jefferson Elementary School District has taken a number of steps to correct conditions attacked two weeks ago by a teacher's aide at Crocker School in Daly City. The volunteer parent, Mrs. Jane Lyman, charged the kindergarten room was without adequate communication to the outside, had dirty floors and its bathroom had a "stench" described as "terrible."

In 30 seconds a sprinter can cover nearly 300 yards. In the same time you can dial a call anywhere in the country. Pacific Telephone

Dial direct, it's faster.

District Supt. Frank Greenwood described the "major problem" to be the three 150-minute kindergarten classes themselves. Their combined length requires that the kindergarten class taught by Miss Barbara Lewis extends beyond the time that other adult persons are on the school grounds.

This has been changed, Greenwood said, inasmuch as the secretary now stays until 4 p.m.

The "inadequate" communications system has been altered and persons at the school now indicate Miss Lewis can be heard in the main building from her detached room, Greenwood explained.

"The custodian has been helped and instructed on how to proceed," Greenwood said.

He declared that the bathroom "stench," as it was called, probably stemmed from poor ventilation.

The teacher has been asked to leave open the door and keep the fan operating during class-time, Greenwood said.

East Vista Accidents Spur Petition

Residents along East Vista Avenue in Daly City want the roadway turned into a one-way street following the latest in a series of accidents that injured a news photographer three weeks ago.

In a petition to the council signed by some 70 East Vista Avenue residents, it was pointed out that to prevent further accidents "it is necessary to make changes in the traffic regulations governing the street."

Mayor Bernard (Bud) Lyett turned the matter over to the City's traffic committee for study.

An answer is expected in two weeks.

The residents said that in the past ten years there have been 19 accidents on a one block stretch of the short street, four of which caused bodily injury.

"At least two of the accidents caused injury and death to household pets and the rest damage to automobiles and other property," the petition explained.

Photographer Bob Burton was climbing into his car on May 25 about 7 p.m. when a pickup truck collided with a foreign compact car, swerved and struck Burton.

Clinic Makes 'Headway'

The Tri-City Forum apparently is satisfied that the North County Mental Health Clinic is making progress on a number of "imminent needs."

Representatives of the Mental Health Clinic were present at a recent Tri-City Forum meeting and outlined steps that were being taken to fill staff positions with Spanish-speaking persons.

Art Elliott, organizer, consultant for the Forum, noted, "up to this point we feel they are making some headway."

Tri-City Forum is comprised of Latin American persons of San Bruno, Daly City, and South San Francisco, and its endeavors are improvement of the Latin American position in the fields of education, housing, employment and manpower development.

Attack On Greenwood Spurs Exit

Daly City resident Reva Krips unleashed an attack on the ability of Frank Greenwood to continue as superintendent of the Jefferson Elementary School District and Trustee Ed Tomasello stormed out of the meeting in protest on June 9.

It was shortly before 10:30 p.m. when Mrs. Krips was allowed to voice her opinions, in a point on the agenda entitled, "visitors."

Mrs. Krips, noted for cryptic comments and stinging charges against Greenwood in the past, has not attended Board of Trustees meetings for a number of weeks, while she pursued her own education, she said.

"I don't know what's worse," she said, reading about the mishappenings, inefficiency and ineffectiveness and downright do-nothingness of the administration or hearing about it first-hand at 101 Lincoln Way."

She recalled, "I've said it before, I'll say it again, and I'll say it right now: we need a new school superintendent, a capable school superintendent."

She proceeded to itemize a few complaints.

As Lewkowitz hit the table with his gavel, Tomasello pushed back his chair, got up and announced that, "sorry," he could not stay for any more of the Krips attack.

At the door of the trustee chambers, he stopped and said, "We adopted a policy, Mr. Lewkowitz, a few weeks ago" relevant to speakers from the floor making "personal attacks, and this is what this is."

Lewkowitz "entertained" a motion to "recess to a personnel problem, then told Mrs. Krips personal attacks "are not right."

"I am not talking about Mr. Greenwood's personal life. I am talking about his role as superintendent."

Whether or not a formal vote on the motion to adjourn to the regularly scheduled executive session actually was taken is a moot point — and whatever it was went unheard amid the confusion — but such was declared.

Trustee Al Collett left the room, as did Greenwood.

But Trustee Dorothy Adams, Chairman Lewkowitz and Trustee Bill Schumacher remained behind as Mrs. Krips continued.

Lewkowitz listened for another five minutes, then he, too, left, however the other two trustees remained in the room as talk continued for some time.

Then, they, too entered the closed meeting. —W.E.T.

Figone Is Not Member Of Fair Board

The status of Alfred A. Figone of Daly City, is now known. He is not a member of the San Mateo County Fair and Convention Association — although he once was recommended for that post — very briefly.

A joint subcommittee meeting of the association and the Board of Supervisors last week voted to rescind an April 8 resolution recommending Figone to the vacant fair post. He would have replaced William Enomoto of Atherton, who resigned.

It was decided that any further recommendations to the board be put off until a decision on reconstructing the board is reached.

That decision will come from a joint committee on cooperative planning composed of Councilmen John J. Murray and John F. Condon on the city side, and Supervisors Gerald F. Dav and Robert St. Clair for the county.

Next joint meeting of the committee is not scheduled until August 18.

In the meantime, Fair and Convention Manager Sal Millan said it will be "business as usual" for the July 27 — August 8 San Mateo County Fair.

Discussion of expanding the association board, or splitting into two boards, or doing away with the fair altogether, he declared, has not hurt the planning for this year's fair.

In fact, Millan said, plans for this summer's fiesta are twenty days ahead of schedule — a first for the county outings.

And, he added, those setting up the event are "too busy keeping the fair running and chasing conventions" to talk now of other plans.

YOU BETTER BELIEVE Daly City's merchants (for the most part) aren't going to take the proposed business license tax lying down. Some have already sought professional assistance in turning the volume down on the price part of the package, while others are warming up their vocal cords to engage the council in a sort of "we hope to shout you down" attack. The latter, we'll wager, doesn't work.

Then there is the homeowner to consider. If the city can show where this faction of the community will actually be able to "save" a few bucks by not getting another tax raise on their property this year, merchants may end up being the Guys-in-the-Black-Hats and the City Manager the hero. At any rate, between now and August there should be some rather lively discussions going around town — all centered around the new tax.

And why August you ask? Simply: That's when the city must have set the tax rate in order to meet the upcoming budget. Ah, sweet misery of life.

NEWS RELEASES flowing in from councilman Theodore Long's office with this heading: "Vice Mayor of San Bruno, SAN FRANCISCO, California." The latest release concerned garbage.

WHEN ANDREW ROCCA bowed out as South San Francisco councilman this past April he left some mighty fine words of wisdom for those trying to follow in his footsteps: "Be positive, decisive, hold your own counsel and come to your own conclusions." Rocca's testimonial will be held this evening.

GOLF, OF COURSE — Good Old San Francisco — the City that knows how — has finally replied to an appeal by R. Munashiro of 612 N. Mayfair Avenue, Daly City. You all remember Munashiro, he was the man who led the battle for either a local public golf course, lower green fees at San Francisco-owned courses (Pacifica's Sharp Park) or both. Anyway, the S.F. Recreation and Parks Department has told Mr. Munashiro, in two pages of drivel, that the higher rates for non-residents of S.F. (even though they live next door to the course) will stay. They ask for understanding in the matter. We understand alright!

As for another golf course in the North County? Where and how much?

CONFIDENTIAL TO "A FRIEND" — What other paper?

THE SHADOW KNOWS about that San Bruno department head that has sent his name out to several other cities looking for a job. No, we do NOT mean the city manager! For free name and department write this paper.

PAT MARKOVICH, co-owner of Franklin Canyon golf course down Rodeo way and brother of localite Pete Markovich, returned from a month-long tour of Scotland to find his clubhouse broken into and 80 dozen golf balls taken right out from under the nose of a costly burglar alarm system.

AND SPEAKING OF SCOTLAND, Pat says American duffers would have one heckuva time busting 100 on the courses over there. "They're made of tee and green with nothing but rough in between." Sounds almost poetic.

WE WERE SADDENED to learn of the untimely death of Judge Conrad Reich, a man we got to know rather well when he and I "covered" Brisbane, he as City Attorney and I as a reporter. There is much speculation regarding who will fill the vacancy on the Superior Court bench. Some favor D.C. attorney Albert Polonsky — a Democrat — who ran second in the recent superior court race which seated muni Judge Bob Carey.

ANOTHER SAD NOTE — Daly City policeman Welsh's father died in San Mateo last week. Ed has been on the force for eight months.

SICK CALL — Still on the police thing we report officer Robert Vogt is the proud papa of Anastasia Marie who howled into the world shortly after 10 p.m. last Thursday. ... Bill Sweeney recuperating at home following hip surgery.

WHILE POLICE GUARDED the locker room at the Lake Merced Country Club during the recent Chamber of Commerce Tournament, someone walked off with former councilman Edward Denis' new golf shoes at the entrance to the posh clubhouse. P.S. The "Old Pro" didn't score so great on the green either.

MIND BOGLER — Some weeks ago Mrs. Marie Taylor, 176 School Street, Daly City, objected to having what she called a "junk yard" across the street from her. What an applicant for a business license wanted was approval to operate a tire repair shop. That's what he got. But that's not the story! This is: Last week, the council receive an application for a license to operate a motorcycle accessory shop called "The Junk Shop." Where? You guessed it — downstairs from Mrs. Taylor at 178 School Street. She did not object.

Letters To The Editor

Editor, The Post:

We read that Carolyn Schwartz is under some cloud for playing a recording of the Woodstock, New York Festival. It is hard for us to believe that any of the students had not heard before the expletive that was mentioned incidentally on the tape. It is not hard for us to believe that in teaching the class she fanned a spark for the love and appreciation of music.

Two of my children have gone through Benjamin Franklin already. There is still one to go. It is important that I communicate the great job of teaching music that Mrs. Schwartz has done. It is impossible with today's plays, movies, books and etc., to prevent anyone from learning all the words possible. It is extremely difficult to inspire a love of music. We are sure to have the former, let it not cheat us of the latter.

MR. AND MRS. DANIEL T. LEVENTHAL
Daly City.

Editor, The Post:

We are writing regarding the action of the Jefferson Elementary School District Board of Trustees pertaining to Mrs. Carolyn Schwartz. We met Mrs. Schwartz in October, 1967 when our son was a student in the seventh grade at Benjamin Franklin School. We talked with her at different times during the following years, and we were always impressed with her obvious concern for her students' welfare and their future development and understanding.

We cannot believe the "Woodstock" album is so foreign to the environment, influence and culture of the junior high school (even as it prevailed in "our days") to be detrimental to the welfare of the students. It seems to us that hasty decisions by the school board may be detrimental to the welfare of students, however.

DAWN LEVY (right) holds ball of string as Marvis Smith of Ecology Action ties up old phone books held by Alan Siegel. Above, note the many helping hands involved in the bundling and loading of old newspapers and magazines which will be headed for re-cycling into usable paper products. Jim Smith, Peter Anderson, Mary McClure, Marvin Smith and little Alan Siegel do their share. At left, Laura Siegel sorts out bottles that Paul Starr collected along sides of Pacifica roads. Their information sheet says this is "not some goody, goody group that sits around planning 90 per cent and watching ten per cent." Instead it's an action group called, in seeming appropriateness, "Ecology Action of Pacifica," and the organization's ambition is "for cleaning up Pacifica." Mary McClure, a housewife, directs the ecology group on Saturdays from 10 A.M. to 2 p.m., when citizens may take waste products to Pedro Point for collection and a start on its way to re-cycle for re-use.

A Feature Potpourri

Strategy Warnings

JAMES HALLEY

Post-Times Columnist

Last September, in two articles, this column considered the Southern strategy and also "The Emerging Republican Majority" (Arlington House) a book by Kevin Phillips, who was then a young special assistant to the U.S. Attorney General. Some quotes from those articles seem appropriate following the recent Alabama election:

"Wallace understands the South. We should carefully consider his words; for, even though there have been recent delays in enforcement of desegregation laws, every evidence shows that the inexorable pressures of desegregation will continue. If Wallace has read the South correctly, it will remain adamant and support candidates who plainly oppose integration on all levels."

"Wallace now speaks like a candidate for governor of Alabama in 1970. Should he successfully attain this office, he would have a formidable base for further national campaigning. Not only the prestige of the office itself, but access to national political circles and considerable manpower and assistance would be available to him."

"His efforts should be carefully examined by those proposing a Southern Strategy for the Republican Party. If, in fact, the South wants it all, and is attracted to Wallace's position, then there will be no successful gathering of a national Republican majority based in the South. For some of the things they want are so unpalatable to the North and parts of the West that the price of complying will be loss in general elections."

"Phillips claims that 'nothing more than an effective and responsibly conservative Nixon Administration is necessary to bring most of the Southern Wallace electorate into the fold against a northeastern liberal Democratic presidential nominee.' I submit George Wallace knows more about the South than Mr. Phillips and will again mobilize the red-neck vote."

"For the political scientist there is an important lesson. First, it is possible to coalesce incompatible people in support of a candidate. Second, it is possible to include disparate philosophies within a major political party, providing emphasis is on practical politics and candidates, not theory. Third, it is impossible to create permanent philosophical coalitions of people who disagree on anything as fundamental as human rights."

"Kevin Phillips proposes the third approach and if followed could lead his party to disaster."

Events have shown that such warnings about a Southern Strategy are real. That George Wallace is now assured of reelection as Governor is impressive enough. But the way he won belies a Southern strategy for reasonable men.

For after slogging through a dull and losing primary, Wallace did what he had to do to win. He promised in the style of the early demagogues and ran an anti-Negro scare campaign. The majority that emerged in Alabama was founded on campaign thrusts that are unavailable to Mr. Nixon or any other reasonable man.

Mr. Phillips should ponder whether the President would ever run as a free spender who promises increases in programs and reductions in taxes. For George Wallace promised new medical schools, higher teacher salaries, higher old age pensions, increased unemployment payments and reduced taxes. This is hardly a grist that will be attractive to the conservatives around whose support Mr. Phillips conjured new alignments.

Mr. Phillips should also contemplate the anti-Negro campaign of George Wallace. Even this young man must understand that the President would never speak against Negro bloc votes or say things such as

Chip's Serenade Hoists 'Back In Business' Flag

Chip Turiello, one of the most well-known personalities on the Peninsula (he owned and operated Chip's Serenade in San Bruno some years back), is once again in the restaurant and cocktail lounge business. Calling his new venture Chip's Serenade (natch), the restaurant is located at 210 El Camino Real in Belmont (site of former Greek restaurants). When it comes to the "Scotch and bourbon circuit," Chip is a leader in his field. With the Turiello know-how at the helm, you're sure to hear a lot about the new Chip's Serenade in Belmont... San Mateo's Benjamin Franklin Hotel invites the family trade for breakfast, luncheon or dinner, which is moderately priced, in the comfortable Green-willow dining room. Service from 6 a.m. to 8:45 p.m. daily; Tom Delano is the executive chef. The piano sounds of Henry Bove may be enjoyed Friday and Saturday evenings in the Club Seville while sipping your favorite before or after-dinner drink.

FAMILIAR FACE — Lively Chip Turiello welcomes you to his new Belmont Chip's Serenade. The recently opened club is now serving cocktails in the lounge, with a luncheon and dinner schedule pending.

Enrico Romano, owner of Romano's Italian restaurant in Pacifica's Rockaway Beach, spends many hours each day in the kitchen preparing all those savory sauces. In addition to all his wonderful pizzas, Enrico also offers authentic Italian dinners... Al Salah, general manager of the Executive House Hotel, was guest speaker at a Millbrae Chamber of Commerce meeting held in the Millbrae hotel's beautiful Crystal Room. "Even though the hotel is undergoing an extensive remodeling," said Salah, "we don't anticipate any increase in rates. In fact, dinners in the 101 Ranch Steak House are priced less than they ever were."... The Black Stag restaurant in Belmont has one of the most unusual circular sunken bars in the area. Black leather with fixed bar stools that are so comfortable you don't want to get up... Father's Day will blossom out all over at Sil Oliva's Exposition Fish Grotto. Chef Art has whipped up a menu full of fresh fish and sea food goodies guaranteed to top off Dad's Day in royal fashion. This time it's KING For A Day.

Enrico Romano

Music fans were quick to spot famed composer and orchestra leader Henry Mancini enjoying a Steak Wellington in the elegant Wellington Room of Phil Lehr's Pay-By-The-Ounce Steakery in downtown San Francisco... Ever since Nick Gust, prominent Rockaway Beach restaurateur (Nick's, The Moonraker, and the Papagayo Room) joined the political ranks, he is harder to catch than the eighth spot on a Keno ticket (and if you play Keno you know that's a little tough). With a little luck, we may corner Nick this weekend to get a rundown on his plans for the forthcoming anniversary... Luke Heiman, general manager of Barney's Club, South Lake Tahoe, and his assistant, Lou Vasek, have played a big part in the advancement of Barney's booming business over the past months. Every modern convenience has been added to the gaming and restaurant division for Barney's guests. Free coffee is served 24 hours a day. Barney's and the nearby South Tahoe Nugget are headquarters for the Greyhound Bus-Park Avenue Tours packages, which feature generous bonus refunds.

Scotty Campbell's Has 'All Cure' Medicines

Long overdue for a dinner visit to Scotty Campbell's in Redwood City and a chat with little Mary Lou Francis, who has probably added many new artifacts to her priceless collection. It would appear that the "Watkins Man" unloaded his "All-cure" Indian medicines right into the display cabinet, which separates one part of the dining room from the intimate lounge. As it has been mentioned before, Scotty Campbell's is original in all fields (taste their cheesecake dessert, for one)... Tired of the same baked or fried potatoes? Durby Adkins of the beautiful Shirt Tail in Palo Alto offers a delightful variation: Anna Potatoes, which are sliced, and baked in a chicken base, with butter and seasonings... Basketball great Wilt Chamberlin is one of the many sports superstars who make dinner at Low Lehr's Steak House in the Marina district a "must" whenever they're in San Francisco... The Lumber and Mill Employees Association held a business meeting at Fred and Jerry Rapp's South San Francisco Holiday Inn recently. General Manager Claude Schroeder suggest early reservations if your organization is planning a special affair.

Sugar 'n' Spice

If there was a contest picking the busiest month in the year, I'm sure December would win, hands down. Finishing a strong second would be June, don't you agree? Have you been as busy as I this month? It seems the whole month so far has been one long round of graduations and parties, weddings and parties and gift buying and wrapping. I love all these activities, but find that my home is going to rack and ruin and the ironing is now making closing the linen closet impossible. Ah well, come July I'll have lots of time to iron (ugh) and clean (ugh) and I'll long for all the fun and excitement of June.

Since I'm writing this column as I rush around getting ready to go to my daughter's graduation, it's going to be a shorty. But you know the saying, "Good things come in small quantities."

This first recipe comes from a very attractive little booklet published by the American Dairy Association. This combination of fish sticks (easy to fix) and green beans (equally easy to fix), plus the glamour of a mock hollandaise sauce makes an attractive and tasty dish.

FISH STICKS WITH MOCK HOLLANDAISE

- 1 package (10 ounces) frozen fish sticks
- 1 package (10 ounces) frozen cut green beans
- 1/4 cup dairy sour cream
- 1 egg yolk
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup dairy sour cream at room temperature

Cook fish sticks and green beans separately according to individual package directions.

To prepare sauce: In saucepan mix one-fourth cup sour cream with the egg yolk, two tablespoons lemon juice and fourth teaspoon salt. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Remove from heat; stir in the one-half cup sour cream. (Sauce yield, three-fourths cup).

Drain the green beans; place on serving platter, top with the cooked fish sticks. Pour sauce over all. Serves three to four.

I'm always happy to find a recipe that uses canned salmon. It's something that I try to keep in reserve on my pantry shelf, for salmon suits itself to many varieties of service. This next recipe came from Canada and was printed in the Canadian Pacific publication for its employees. We found it quite delicious and it makes a very attractive dish to serve too.

SALMON ROLL-UP

- 2 cups canned salmon (a one-pound can)
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 2 tablespoons minced onion
- 1/4 cup chili sauce
- 1/3 cup ripe olives
- Grated rind and juice 1/2 lemon
- 3 tablespoons minced parsley
- 2 cups biscuit mix
- 1/2 cup water
- 1 egg yolk
- 2 tablespoons milk

(Bake 400-degree oven, 30 to 40 minutes)
Drain the salmon; flake. Blend in the half teaspoon salt, fourth teaspoon pepper, two tablespoons minced onion, fourth cup chili sauce, third cup ripe olives and grated lemon rind.

With fork, lightly mix the three tablespoons parsley with the two cups biscuit mix. Combine the lemon juice and half cup water. Prepare biscuit mix according to package directions, but use the lemon-water mixture instead of milk. Roll dough out on lightly floured board into rectangle 8x13-inches. Spread with salmon mixture. Roll up as for jelly roll.

Combine the egg yolk and the two tablespoons milk, use a little to dampen outside edge of dough. Press firmly to seal. Lay roll seam side down on greased, floured baking sheet. Brush top with sides with rest of egg-milk mixture.

Bake in preheated oven, 400 degrees, 30 to 40 minutes. Cut into six slices; serve hot with a white sauce, or mushroom or tomato sauce.

Makes six servings.

Honors To 4 Mateans

Ken Dennis of San Bruno was recently honored by the Boy Scouts of America with the Silver Beaver Award, the highest recognition given to adult scouters at the council level. Presentation was made at the conclusion of the San Mateo County Council's annual meeting and dinner which was held in the Garden Restaurant, San Mateo County Fairgrounds, on June 6.

Dennis, one of four to receive this top award, was the only recipient from the San Bruno-South San Francisco area. Others were Fred Caligiuri, Redwood City; Frank Merrill, Menlo Park; and Charles Roske, San Mateo.

Dennis has been Scoutmaster of San Bruno Troop 275 since 1962 and is also serving as camping chairman on the San Mateo Council's Executive Board. He attained the rank of eagle scout as a boy, and as an adult scout has served as cub pack committeeman, scout troop committeeman, merit badge counselor, and council committee chairman in addition to his present duties.

An 18-year veteran scout, he also holds the order of merit, scout's key, scout's award, and has completed the wood-badger adult leader training. He has been first aid instructor, assisting in the Girl Scout's first aid program and is the first aid instructor trainer for the San Francisco council of the American Red Cross.

Computers Help Agriculture Department Inspect Imported Meats

In San Francisco, Seattle, Los Angeles, New York, Atlanta, New Orleans, and other ports, foreign meat products enter the nation every day.

The task of inspecting these millions of pounds of meat falls on the United States Department of Agriculture's Consumer and Marketing Service. At each port of entry, USDA's food inspectors check the lots of imported meat to make sure they're safe to eat — just as safe as our domestic product.

And in Washington, D.C., a COMPUTER KEEPS TRACK OF ALL THE IMPORT MEAT INSPECTION DATA. Much of the meat comes in frozen boneless blocks. Because many factors to help determine the acceptability of frozen boneless meat, the computer records specific information on all import rejections.

Using a similar computer program, USDA can estimate, before a boat is unloaded, whether containers of meat from a plant in a foreign country should pass inspection without many defects. This estimate is based on the plant's past performance which is firmly recorded in the computer's memory bank and updated daily.

A rating system has been organized for certain import inspection programs. Foreign plants are rated for either tightened, normal, or reduced inspection. When a particular plant consistently shows a high level of defects, the computer puts it on tightened inspection. Inspectors are then advised to apply more stringent inspection of the plant's products when they enter this country. Conversely, if a plant's products are consistently acceptable at all ports, with a low level of defects, inspection surveillance may be reduced. And, the computer and the inspectors are updated each day with the correct information.

On the domestic scene, USDA is responsible for inspecting all meat products that are produced in plants which sell in interstate commerce. This is to make sure the products are wholesome and truthfully labeled. Computer programs are also being developed for these plants under USDA's inspection.

Some plants are now being reviewed by a computer to check the enforcement of USDA's regulations on 30 per cent fat and 10 per cent added water for cooked sausages.

If a plant is consistently within the limits, it needs only limited surveillance. However, if a plant has trouble with the limits, USDA inspectors check more closely for fat and added water and retain those products which have too much. USDA statistics show that the average fat content of cooked sausage has been reduced to 28.5 per cent, and added water is well within the 10 per cent limit.

Many times the computer can predict a nonuniformity problem before it actually developes. For instance, the inspectors at each port provide data on the number and kinds of defects by product, country of origin, or plant number. Results from each port are then summarized, at the push of a button. USDA can then determine if any one inspection station has rejected a smaller proportion of a particular product than a station getting the same type of product at a different port.

Alleviating a potential problem through the use of a computer helps USDA increase its inspection efficiency. But it also helps the consumer get the best meat products from foreign countries.

Apple Pie Colors Are Patriotic

Here's an "All-American Apple Pie" that tastes as good as it looks.

The pie, developed in the test kitchens of The West Bend Company, features a simple-to-decorate pinwheel of cream cheese and accentuated by a lighted sparkler. The pie filling itself has a surprise flavor sparkler: a hint of butterscotch.

Team up the red and white pinwheel pie with "Stars 'n Stripes" Sugar Cookies for a party setting in all the colors of the flag.

All-American Apple Pie
5 cup sliced tart apples
1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1/4 cup water
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1/4 cup flour
2 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/4 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons butter

In 2-quart saucepan, combine apples, brown sugar, water and lemon juice. Cook until tender over low heat for 7-8 minutes. Blend flour and sugar. Add to apples. Cooking until syrup thickens. Remove from heat. Add vanilla, salt and butter. Pour into pastry-lined pie tin. Add top layer of crust, seal, and make small slits on top. Bake in preheated oven at 425-degrees for 40-45 minutes.

Pinwheel Topping: Soften one 8-ounce package of cream cheese with 3 tablespoons of milk. Blend, either by hand or in blender, until cheese reaches the consistency of stiff frosting. Color one-half of the cheese red with food coloring. Using pastry decorator, apply white cheese first, starting at crust's outer edge. Slowly move toward center in spiral fashion, leaving about one-half inch space between rows. Then fill in between white rows with red cheese, also using pastry bag. Refrigerate until serving time.

"Stars 'n Stripes" Sugar Cookies — Made from any simple sugar cookies recipe, decorated with tube-type frosting. To each rectangular cookie, apply one red and one white stripe lengthwise. Outline each star shaped cookie with a blue frosting border.

Iced Tea Is Summertime Quencher

Iced tea is truly thirst-quenching because it is non-sweet and non-sticky, and because it's low on the calorie scale, it won't spoil anyone's appetite. Here's an easy, foolproof way to make a 2-quart pitcherful, enough for 10 tall glasses.

ICED TEA BY THE PITCHERFUL

Bring 1 quart of freshly drawn cold water to a full rolling boil in a saucepan.

Take from the heat and immediately add 15 teabags or 1-3 measuring cup loose tea.

Stir, cover and let stand 5 minutes.

Stir again and strain into a pitcher holding another quart of cold water.

When ready to serve, pour into ice-filled glasses.

Note: If using instant tea, allow 4 rounded tablespoons of powder to 2 quarts cold water.

Start Father's Day On Happy Note With Home-Baked Sweet Rolls

Nothing says "Happy Father's Day" so thoughtfully as freshly-baked sweet rolls for breakfast. Created especially for the occasion are Bright-As-Daisy Cakes. They're prepared from a rich yeast dough shaped into "daisies" with yellow lemon-filling centers. Bright-As-Daisy Cakes are prepared by the modern Rapid-mix Method. Developed by home economists for Fleischmann's Yeast, Rapidmix takes the guesswork out of baking with yeast. It eliminates the tricky step of dissolving yeast in warm water, instead adding it undissolved to the dry ingredients. Heated liquids are added all at once and initial beating is done with an electric mixer. Because yeast works best in a warm cozy atmosphere, the liquids should be heated until they are very warm — warmer than the lukewarm water used for dissolving yeast in old-fashioned recipes. Bright-As-Daisy Cakes are pretty enough to grace any table as a breakfast bread, mid-day snack or dessert with lunch or dinner. This recipe makes two cakes — for your father and father-in-law.

BRIGHT-AS-DAISY CAKES
5 to 6 cups unsifted flour
¾ cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt

1 tablespoon grated lemon peel
2 packages Fleischmann's Active Dry Yeast
½ cup milk
½ cup water
½ cup (1 stick) Fleischmann's Margarine
3 eggs (at room temperature)
Confectioners' sugar frosting

In a large bowl thoroughly mix 1½ cups flour, sugar, salt, lemon peel and undissolved Fleischmann's Active Dry Yeast. Combine milk, water and Fleischmann's Margarine in a saucepan. Heat over low heat until liquids are warm (125 degrees - 135 degrees F.)

Margarine does not need to melt. Gradually add to dry ingredients and beat two minutes at medium speed of electric mixer, scraping bowl occasionally. Add eggs and ½ cup flour, or enough flour to make a thick batter. Beat at high speed two minutes, scraping bowl occasionally. Stir in enough additional flour to make a soft dough. Turn out onto lightly floured board; knead until smooth and elastic, about eight to ten minutes. Place in greased bowl, turning to grease top. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1½ hours.

Punch dough down; turn out onto lightly floured board. Divide dough in half. Roll one half into a rectangle, 14x7 inches. Cut into 14 strips, 1-inch wide. Twist two strips together. Hold one end of twist firmly and wind dough loose to form coil; tuck end underneath. Repeat until all strips are used. Place one coil in center of greased baking sheet. Surround with remaining coils so that all coils are touching. Repeat with remaining dough. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about one hour. Makes two coffee cakes.

Meanwhile, prepare Lemon Filling (below). Press deep indentation into center of each coil, making each indentation about two inches in diameter. Spoon prepared filling mixture into indentations.

Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 20 to 25 minutes, or until done. Remove from baking sheets and cool on wire racks. Frost with confectioners' sugar frosting.

Lemon Filling: Using fork, blend together two packages (three ounces each) softened cream cheese and one egg yolk. Add two tablespoons sugar, one teaspoon grated lemon peel and three drops yellow food coloring, then gradually stir in two tablespoons lemon juice.

Budgetwise Meal Based On Sausage

Family dinners can be easy on the purse, yet attractive and delicious as well. Sausage-Potato Crown Roast is just such a main dish. You'll want to serve it often because no one will even guess you're pinching pennies.

Sausage-Potato Crown Roast can be made in a hurry. A busy homemaker or career girl can dash into the market on the way home, pick up a package of knackwurst or franks and instant potatoes, and the casserole can be in and out of the oven in about 35 minutes. Serve with a crisp vegetable salad, beverage and winter fruit and cookies.

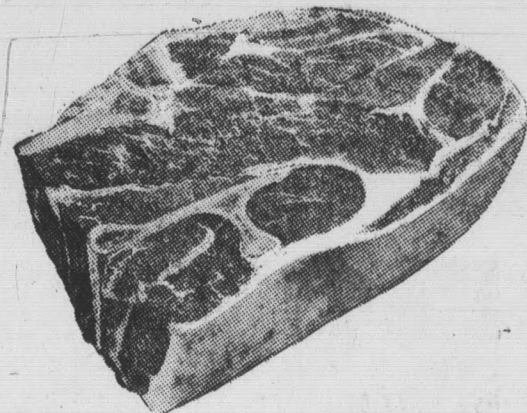

SAUSAGE-POTATO CROWN ROAST
1 package (12-ounce) knackwurst, mettwurst, wieners, franks or smoked sausage links
¼ cup finely chopped green or Bermuda onion
3½ to 4 cups hot mashed potatoes (instant or mashed)
1-3 cup shredded Cheddar cheese
Cut sausage links in half lengthwise and crosswise. Whip onion into hot mashed potatoes (cooked instant or fresh mashed). Spoon a small amount of potato mixture over bottom of a buttered 9-inch pie plate or shallow casserole. Stand sausage pieces upright on cut end, cut surface towards center of dish. Fill center with remaining potatoes. Sprinkle cheese over top. Heat to serving temperature in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) about 25 minutes. Yield: 4 servings.

Variations On Pancake Main Dishes

How do you serve pancakes? Pancakes can be the basis of many convenience meals. Here they are teamed with a creamed chicken dish using canned chicken and a condensed soup for a easy sauce base. Or it might be one of many frozen products on the market.

For a second stack of pancakes try a hot apple sauce. Heat canned apple sauce with corn syrup, either dark or light and spice it with nutmeg and cinnamon.

HOT APPLE SAUCE
2 cups canned apple sauce
1 cup Karo light or dark corn syrup
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon cinnamon
2 tablespoons margarine
Mix together apple sauce, corn syrup, nutmeg, cinnamon and margarine in saucepan. Bring to boil and continue boiling about five minutes, stirring occasionally. Serve hot on pancakes, French toast, or waffles. Any leftover sauce may be served over plain cake or gingerbread. Makes about 2½ cups.

FOLLOWING IS A GROUP INTERVIEW with three senior members of Terra Nova's championship baseball team, the most successful athletic team in North Peninsula League history. Mike Calder, an outfielder-first baseman and occasional southpaw pitcher, was a two-time all-leaguer, leading the NPL in batting in 1969 with a .500 average, this past year he hit .359. He will attend Cal in the fall. Husky Mike Rawlings, who will represent the NPL in the North-South all-star game in Anaheim on June 28, is regarded by many baseball men who have observed him as the finest prep defensive catcher they've ever seen. Rawlings will probably attend College of San Mateo. Ernie Manley played right field for the Tigers and was considered by many as one of the inspirational leaders of the team. He will attend Skyline College with an eye toward transfer to Humboldt State.

QUESTION: Last year you tied for the NPL title with Jefferson but then went on to win the North Coast Section title. This year you lost only one game in season play, but were knocked off by Sacred Heart in the first play-off game in defense of your title. Which Terra Nova team, 1969 or 1970, do you consider to have been the best?

CALDER: This year's team was stronger. We had more horses.

RAWLINGS: It was a different type of team. This year our hitting wasn't nearly as good as last year. (Ed Note: TN hit over .300 as a team last year, .230 this year). So our whole team had to be built on pitching and defense. We had a great defense and Bob McClure. (The NPL's Most Valuable Player) was a great pitcher.

MANLEY: I think this year's team was a stronger team, but it was a different thing, because we knew we were stronger this year and we had to prove it. There was more pressure, people expected more of us. Last year everybody was always pumping it into our head how we were going to get wiped out by this team or that team. So we got kind of mad and went out to prove those people wrong. This year, everybody was on our side. People told us how good we were and maybe we believed we were too good to ever lose.

QUESTION: As you know, your coach, Al Figone, is now moving on to the college level of coaching at San Francisco State College. What do you think his strongest faculty is as a coach, the one which will make him successful at any level of coaching?

CHORUS: He wins

RAWLINGS: You just have to win for him. He never says lose, that's why.

CALDER: He lets us argue with him. If he didn't let us argue with him, we wouldn't have had a good team. We don't like dictators.

MANLEY: It seems that he cares more about winning. He's more dedicated to it. Other coaches, when you lose a game, they say well, we'll try better next time. It's always try better, not win.

QUESTION: What did Figone do when you lost?

CALDER: Ten 50's.

MANLEY: Besides that, he gets awfully mad, and you feel very bad.

RAWLINGS: If we lose, he never says we played a good game.

CALDER: We don't even think about losing. It's the farthest thing from our mind. We just wonder how close it's going to be.

QUESTION: Where do you draw the line at winning?

ANSWERS: (It was agreed that no Terra Nova player, nor the coach, would ever do anything to jeopardize a player's health and/or future to win. As an example, there were times when McClure's arm bothered him, and Figone never used him unless he was sure he was sound.)

QUESTION: That's easy to answer. We had great coaching when we were little kids from Carl Vallerio and John Hernandez. Hernandez taught me how to hit. Anyway, when we got here we came almost as a unit, with a winning attitude, and ran into a coach with the same philosophy.

MANLEY: When we were little kids playing, many of us against each other, everybody said, "Wait 'till we get to high school together. We'll have a great team." When we were playing Little League, we had our Terra Nova High School varsity baseball lineup already worked out, and we figured it almost exactly.

CALDER: We knew what was going to happen when we were 12 years old. We knew we were going to win the championship, all three years. (Ed. Note: Calder was almost right. Terra Nova won in '69 and '70, and in '68 the predominantly sophomore team had a 6-6 record, five of the losses being by one run.)

QUESTION: Can you have fun at playing ball and still be as dedicated to winning as you are?

CALDER: Sure, look at me. I have a great time playing.

MANLEY: I've had fun playing baseball ever since John Hernandez showed us how much fun it could be. Before that, it was work for me.

RAWLINGS: I think we all agree that too much losing, though, takes the fun out of it.

QUESTION: What do each of you consider to be his strongest asset as a ball player?

MANLEY: I hustle a lot. I can't hit super-ultra good unless I get lucky. I'm not that good a fielder. So I try harder. I run a lot.

CALDER: If I thought I was as good as everybody else thought I was, I'd hit about .250. But I think I'm good. I'd say confidence is my strongest point.

RAWLINGS: My defense.

QUESTION: What are your greatest weaknesses? What do you have to work hardest at on a baseball field?

MANLEY: I'd have to work on both fielding and hitting. I wish I had all this to do over again. From my freshman year I would have stayed after school every day and practiced until I was so great that I could relax like everybody else on this team.

RAWLINGS: Hitting and throwing. More accuracy in throwing, and your arm can always get stronger.

CALDER: Keeping my mouth shut.

QUESTION: Will you play pro if given the opportunity, and when do you plan to sign?

RAWLINGS: I'll play any time I can.

MANLEY: Right now I'm just planning on going to college.

CALDER: I want to get through college first, that's the important thing. I want my degree in criminology so that I can go after crooked politicians.

QUESTION: Mike (Calder), suppose a scout came up to you between your junior and senior year in college and offered you $50,000. Wouldn't you be tempted?

CALDER: No, because that would mean that I'd be worth $100,000 after my senior year. And besides, I want four cracks at winning that NCAA championship. I've never been on a loser, and I'm not going to lose at Cal.

QUESTION: What is Terra Nova's baseball future?

CALDER: I think they'll win the championship again. Buddy Papadakis (Ed. Note: First baseman-pitcher who had a 4-1 record with 1.29 ERA) will strike everybody out and John Racanelli (Ed. Note: Fresh-soph pitcher who led CUBS the TN to their first championship with an 8-2, 0.97 record) should be the greatest pitcher ever.

RAWLINGS: Figone's gone, so you can't tell.

MANLEY: It's going to depend on the next coach.

Breakwater Considered For S.S.F. Oyster Point Marina

Northeast winds are creating a problem at the South San Francisco Oyster Point Marina and councilmen are considering installing a $30,000 breakwater to ease the situation.

Merwin Mansen, marina superintendent, told the councilmen at their study session last week that the only way to fight the wind is to put up 300 feet of breakwater at the Northeast entrance to the marina.

He said the winds presently cause "a tremendous amount of damage," and recommended that the city develop plans and advertise for bids on the installation of a breakwater.

According to Hansen, the winds cause the damage about four or five times a year. He said the city has $50,000 in the Oyster Point Marina Fund which could be used to pay for the work.

Assistant City Engineer Ray Maxwell said installing the breakwater would just be a matter of driving piles, and that the city engineering department should be able to easily handle the plans and specifications.

In answer to Mayor Patrick Ahern's question of why this hadn't been done before Hansen first answered, "I don't know," then said he preferred not to go into reasons why, since it was some nine or ten years ago work was last done.

"I feel it is a very necessary thing," said Hansen, "and good for the marina." He said the breakwater would best be put in at a 45 degree angle and the work would probably take a week to ten days.

On another marina-related matter, City Manager Tom McKenzie told the councilmen that Superintendent of Parks Bob Maxey indicated a need for more sand on the beach at the marina.

Hansen agreed, saying if more sand is brought in he would strongly recommend a gravel mixed with the sand and a retaining wall be constructed to prevent wave action from taking the sand out into the bay.

According to Hansen, it would cost $1,000 a day to dredge the beach area where sand always has been moved off the beach.

Hansen explained that there is increasing use made of the beach area and he has recently installed two dressing rooms and a shower at the beach on the corner of the Rod and Gun Club.

Jeff Elementary Board Sets 'Contained-Seventh' Policy At Four Schools

By WILL THOMAS
Post City Editor

Some Jefferson Elementary School District seventh graders — on a voluntary basis — will return to their present schools next year, instead of advancing to the Benjamin Franklin Intermediate School.

Trustees approved a policy by which Supt. Frank Greenwood and his staff will develop and institute seventh grade classrooms at four of the present kindergarten-sixth grade schools.

The board emphasized the move to be purely a temporary measure by which student population at Ben Franklin could be reduced.

Specific plans are now being drafted by the district's administrators, and it is known that classrooms will be available to house seventh graders at Garden Village, Christopher Columbus, Westlake and Daniel Webster schools.

Two others also apparently exist, inasmuch as trustees directed Greenwood to implement four classrooms for seventh-grade-contained pupils and hold two classrooms in reserve.

The trustees' decision followed a summary of a recent district survey of parents of the four schools listed. Parents had been polled regarding their preferences for:

1—Maintaining a kindergarten-seventh grade structure temporarily? Yes 94; no 93.

2—Changing to area-wide kindergarten-eighth grade structure permanently? Yes 89; no 90.

3—Continuing present seventh-eighth grade structure, yes 132; no 63.

Greenwood told trustees that he had assured parents not contacted in the survey that there would not be any change in the basic structure, such as the kindergarten-eighth grade proposal, without considerable further study.

Greenwood also recommended that the seventh grade classes enrollment be limited to 30 pupils. The survey indicated some classes would have about 17 students, but it was pointed out that two nearby schools' seventh-graders could be combined to reach a desirable class load.

A Garden Village-Vista Mar combine was proposed as an example of the proposal.

The board members appeared unanimous in their belief that medical and principal referrals from any school in the district should hold priority in filling the seventh grade classes.

Mrs. Doris Plant suggested behavioral problems might be lessened in some K-seven situations. She urged "concrete action" so parents with youngsters unable to cope with intermediate school-type operations might know what steps to take for enrollment next term.

Trustee Ed Tomasello, for one, said, "I really can't see any major problems here by adopting a policy of medical priority."

Superintendent Greenwood took a contrary view, though Associate Supt. Dr. Vinton Stratton told Trustee Tomasello he didn't anticipate problems.

Greenwood said he would not recommend that medical priority be spelled out in the policy.

"I don't want the board to get into the trap," he said, "that anyone could leave this room feeling that they have been promised a certification of their child" so that they could attend a K-seventh grade school.

Trustee Dorothy Adams reiterated what she recalled to be a longtime district philosophy that "schools belong to the children of the entire district."

She said each student, no matter where they lived within the district, should have an "equal claim to space and so medical (priority) students."

A solution someday, soon, must be found to ease the crowding at Ben Franklin Intermediate School, educators and trustees in the Jefferson Elementary School District acknowledged.

One such answer might be construction of the Savage School, its site already prepared.

Another suggestion has been that the district return to a kindergarten-eighth grade structure, which would eliminate the two intermediate facilities — Ben Franklin and Colma.

Another proposal is that offered by Trustee Dorothy Adams.

Mrs. Adams envisioned the location of 232 seventh graders at Fernando Rivera from Edison, Lincoln and Vista Mar schools, 44 seventh graders from Fernando Rivera itself, and 132 fourth, fifth, sixth graders from Olympia.

Then, 154 seventh graders would remain in the neighborhood M. Pauline Brown, Westlake and Garden Village Schools, where no additional classrooms would be required.

She suggested that eighth graders at Benjamin Franklin would number about 690, "leaving quite a margin should the parochial schools close this fall."

On a two-year temporary basis, Greenwood initially had suggested utilization of Fernando Rivera as an intermediate school, shifting some lower-grade students to Westlake.

D.C. Man Kills Self

A Daly City man, beset by financial difficulties, apparently shot and killed himself in the bedroom of his apartment on June 10 after taping his will on a dictaphone machine, the coroner's office reports.

Dean Raymond Williams, 44, an insurance investigator, was found dead in his apartment, 111 South Mayfair Street, at 2:45 p.m., a bullet wound in his right temple and a .22 caliber rifle beside the bed.

Coroner's Investigator Robert Cawley said investigation of the death began as a possible homicide because Williams reportedly had been severely beaten by an unknown assailant at the door of his apartment a few weeks ago. Daly City police are investigating that aspect.

Cawley reported that papers found in the apartment indicated that Williams had financial problems and that lawsuits were pending against him. A verbal will was found recorded on a tape on a dictaphone machine in the apartment.

Williams is survived by a son, Dennis.

Daly City Police Officers will be in attendance throughout the stay of the display on-the-mall to inform and answer questions regarding workings of the Department.

S.P. Asks Commuter Fare Boost

Southern Pacific told its 12,000 Peninsula commuters recently that rising costs are forcing it to request a five per cent increase in commute fares.

Robert M. Jochner, general manager of passenger traffic, said the increase is needed to cut losses on the service, which climbed to $1.75 million in 1969.

The most recent increase in commute fares was a five per cent increase in December of 1969, which was part of a general passenger rate boost.

But the California Public Utilities Commission noted at that time that the increase failed to cover higher wage expenses incurred by S.P. since its last previous rate increase.

"We wish there were some alternative, there just isn't one," Jochner said in a message placed on commute trains.

"We know this is a needed operation, and we feel we must maintain our high standards of service on this line. Our hope is that we can, by small increases from time to time, keep somewhere within shouting distance of our constantly rising costs."

For a Redwood City commuter, the boost will mean a $1.30 increase in his monthly commute cost, from $25.20 to $26.50, roughly three cents per ride.

Jochner noted that S.P. fares, even with the increase, are less than those charged by commute lines in the midwest and east.

May Alter Boundaries Of District

San Mateo County's odd-shaped Second Supervisorial District may get a new look this year.

Supervisor James V. Fitzgerald, who yesterday called for redistricting studies to start, declared that East Palo Alto and East Menlo Park should be taken out of the Second District and put into the Fourth.

The Second is Supervisor Robert St. Clair's home district and the Fourth is William M. Werder's.

The subject of redistricting was brought up at the board meeting last week by Fitzgerald, who pointed out that the 1970 census statistics will be available soon. At his suggestion the board asked County Manager M. D. Tarshes to get a study started.

St. Clair did not comment on the prospect of losing East Palo Alto and East Menlo Park to Werder other than to say that he had "always been concerned about my district wandering and meandering down Bayshore."

When district boundaries were last set the board members could not agree on alignments until the concept of combining a rich area and a poor area in the same district was hit upon. The district includes Hillsborough, Burlingame, Millbrae, part of San Mateo east of Bayshore Freeway, and sweeps down over the Bay to take in the part of Menlo Park east of Bayshore and East Palo Alto.

'Decibel' Detective Is Urged

A "decibel detective" especially trained in noise abatement was asked of the Portola Valley town council by a citizens' noise abatement committee.

A delegation of some 30 citizens appeared to demand some action not only against minibikes and motorcycles creating a noise problem about town but against jet aircraft flying overhead as well.

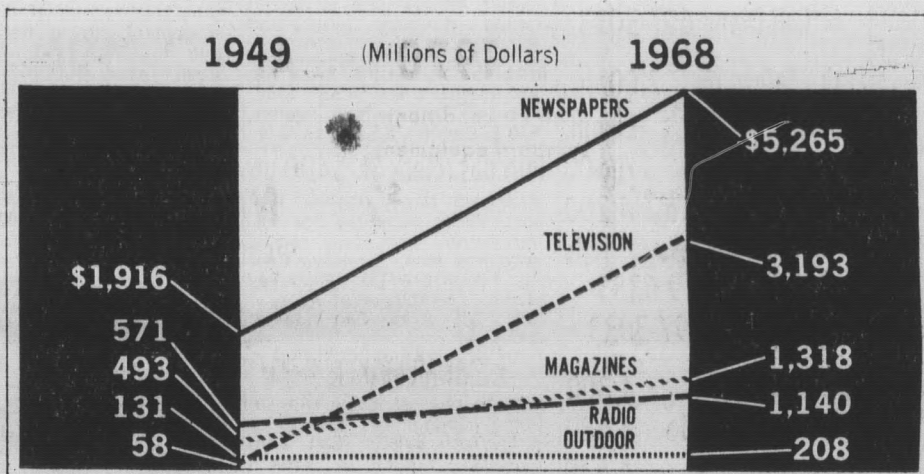

Members of the noise abatement committee said they would be willing to pay higher taxes if a special officer could be trained in noise abatement to patrol the town.

Councilmen took the proposal under study.

The council reached a tentative agreement to continue to contract with the sheriff's office for police services during the coming fiscal year even though the county is increasing a contract some 25 per cent.

Mavor Mrs. Eleanor Boushey reported it probably will be necessary to raise the municipal tax rate.

Superior Court Ruling

'Severe Restrictions' On The Activities Of Unfranchised Cab Firm At Airport

Severe restrictions were ordered on June 9 on the activities of an unfranchised cab company at International Airport.

Superior Court Judge Frank W. Rose ordered the issuance of a preliminary injunction, at the request of the Yellow Cab Company of San Francisco, against the Yellow Cab Company of Pacifica, which is actually headquartered in South San Francisco.

Judge Rose said the order will prohibit the South San Francisco firm from using yellow-painted taxis marked "Yellow Cab Company" to solicit and pick up fares at the airport. Drivers for the company, owned by Milton W. Henke, may take customers to the airport, Judge Rose said, but may not pick up passengers there unless by appointment.

If a Henke cab does take a patron to the airport, the jurist said, and is hailed by a fare while there, the fare may not be picked up.

The restrictions are to remain in effect until a full trial of the dispute can be held. No date was scheduled for the trial. Judge Rose required the San Francisco firm to post a $10,000 bond to cover the defendant's court costs and attorney fees in the event Henke should prevail in the trial.

William Ferdon, attorney for the San Francisco firm which he says pays about $500,000 a year for an exclusive franchise to operate at the airport, called Henke's drivers "wildcat entrepreneurs" and told the court, "They have copied our cab design so closely that we should add the words 'San Francisco' to our cabs to they won't be confused with theirs."

Noting that Henke's lawyer, Charles Gush, had filed affidavits from persons who complained that they could not get rides in the franchised cabs to San Mateo County cities close to the airport, Ferdon declared that his client is obligated to maintain enough cabs at the airport to accommodate "low-fare hauls." However, he added, "Nothing gives them (Henke's company) the right to set themselves up as monitors of this situation."

Gush charged airport authorities with "harassing" Henke's drivers by arresting them on trespassing charges. He told the court that four drivers were acquitted of such charges only last week. Gush asserted that "Mr. Henke is rendering a valuable service to the local people in the area."

"If his cause is service to the public," Ferdon retorted, "why doesn't he paint his cabs red and call them the Henke Cab Company?"

Ferdon noted that the city of Pacifica is attempting to enjoin the use of the name of the city in the title of Henke's company. And Gush pointed out that Henke has filed a $4 million civil rights suit against airport authorities.

John Parker Ordered To State Facility

John Thomas Parker, 47-year-old sheet metal worker who shot and fatally wounded an 18-year-old youth during an argument in a South San Francisco rooming house last February 22, was ordered committed to the State Medical Facility at Vacaville last week for a 90-day period of diagnostic testing today by Superior Judge Allison M. Rouse.

Parker pleaded guilty to voluntary manslaughter in the killing of Calvin Thomas Grayson, who died in a hospital six hours after being shot in the head with a .22 rifle wielded by Parker.

The shooting, climaxed a running argument beginning when Grayson and some friends reportedly threw paint about the kitchen in the rooming house at 317 Grand Avenue.

According to police reports, Parker called police who arrived and intervened. After officers departed, Grayson began to threaten Parker for calling the police, and the latter obtained the rifle and shot Grayson.

Parker has been in custody since the shooting. Probation Officer Raymond H. Faber, noting that Parker has no past history of violence, recommended a five-year period of probation and a one-year term in county jail.

Criminal proceedings were ordered suspended today by Judge Rouse pending outcome of the diagnostic program.

San Bruno C-C For Commission

The San Bruno Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors has gone on record in support of the San Bruno City Council efforts to establish an Airport Land Use Commission which would establish permanent lines of communication with representatives of San Francisco International Airport.

Chamber Director Joshua Maule III proposed that the Board officially support the City Council's exploration of the 1967 state law which enables cities bordering an airport to set up an Airport Land Use Commission. The Board of Directors unanimously voted to support the measure.

The purpose of such a commission, according to San Bruno City Councilman Maurice K. Hamilton, would be to review building, height standards, sound-proofing requirements, encroachment of city land, and make recommendations which may pertain to a host of matters concerning the airport, including the relationship of jet noise.

In other action, the Board of Directors voted to conduct a Retail Trade Analysis Survey. Under the direction of Director Jack Head, a three page questionnaire will be sent to 2,000 San Bruno households.

"The object of the survey is to inaugurate a program of improvement leading to better merchandising in our stores and improved community services," Mr. Head said. "We feel that the people who live in and around our community are the ones who can best tell us what they want and what our city needs to become the best possible trading center."

At their regular monthly meeting, the Board of Directors also heard reports concerning the Miss San Bruno Beauty Pageant from Harry Costa; the Commemorative Coin program from Norman Merkel, and the July 4 celebration from William Schneider.

BETTER BUSINESS

By LORENE BEASLEY
Better Business Bureau

QUESTION: When is a Sale not a Sale?

ANSWER: The term 'sale' as used in advertising, according to FTC, should mean that the items in the advertisement are offered at reduced prices. If an advertisement headed "Sale" includes items at the store's regular selling price as well as items at reduced or "sale" prices, and the advertisement does not clearly separate the two, it has the tendency to deceive potential purchasers. When a specific percentage or stated amount of reduction is not spelled out in the advertisement, the amount of reduction should not be so small as to be insignificant. For example, a big "sale" which offers an item of $9.99 when the store's regular price is $10, is not a true bargain and should not be advertised as such. A major retail store had a double page advertisement with headlines stating "Home Entertainment Sale" and "Gold Rush Sale." BBB investigation disclosed that of the 40 electronic products advertised, only 10 were actual "sale" items. Therefore, use of the word "SALE" was misleading and inaccurate, since the items that were not on sale were not clearly set off and identified.

Robert Nielson Sentenced To State Prison In Slaying

Robert D. Nielson, already convicted of child molesting and involuntary manslaughter in the killing of his wife's three-year-old daughter in San Bruno almost a year ago, Friday afternoon was sentenced to state prison by Superior Court Judge Robert F. Kane.

Although Nielson set calmly and without expression as sentence was pronounced in a Redwood City courtroom, his wife who married him a week after the death of little Yvonne Christine Santino sat sobbing in the courtroom.

In pronouncing sentence, Judge Kane emphasized he was sending Nielson to state prison not for the protection of society, but in the interest of Nielson himself.

"It goes without saying, this particular case has received more attention from this court than any other case in the last year and a half," Judge Kane declared from the bench.

"Mr. Nielson does have positive factors on his side of the ledger. The Court has carefully considered the effect of verdict and the reports of the examining doctors, the probation officer's report, the pre-sentencing report which recommended direct commitment to the Department of Corrections.

"There is no question that Mr. Nielson stands convicted by a jury of two very, very serious offenses. It is true he has spent a considerable time in custody already."

Judge Kane said he thought that if there was any real provision for probation of Nielson that "the people at the department of corrections would have recommended it."

Nielson was returned to court yesterday after a three months stay at the state diagnostic facility at Vacaville, where a corrections counselor had recommended he be sentenced to state prison.

Judge Kane pronounced that Nielson be sentenced to state prison on each of the two counts — to be served concurrently — and recommended that he receive psychiatric and therapeutic treatment.

Nielson's attorney, Harlan Veal, had asked for probation on the basis that Nielson had no past criminal record and that he had been discharged from the Air Force honorably and with a good conduct medal.

Veal said that there was no clinical evidence of psychosis, and maintained that Nielson had lived "a comforting and productive life" up to 35.

"His wife, the mother of the victim, wants to continue their marriage," Veal appealed, and he said Nielson's employer was "anxious" to re-hire him.

Deputy District Attorney William W. Larson termed Nielson's crime "the most severe, the most heinous, the most aggravated, that I have seen since I have been in the district attorney's office."

Pacifican Is Viet Casualty

Sp. 4 David McKay, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie G. McKay of 1116 Rosita Way, has become the ninth Pacifican to perish in Vietnam.

The 19-year-old signal battalion mechanic died June 4 of injuries suffered when he was hit by a truck. He was assigned to the army base at Ben Hoa.

He had been a student at Terra Nova high school before joining the army two days after his 17th birthday.

D.C. Youth Is Wounded

A 17-year-old Daly City youth received a knife wound on his upper left arm and lost $25 in cash to an assailant at about 11:45 p.m. June 9.

Police said Louis Chavez was the victim of the armed robbery and assault at First Avenue and East Market in Daly City. He was taken to Mary's Help Hospital where he was treated for the knife wound and released.

According to the police report, the suspect, a white male about 5-foot-7, weighing about 140 pounds, with long blond hair and a heavy beard, fled on foot on First Avenue toward Castle Street.

Former Miss Daly City Beauty Dies In Car Accident

The mystery of what happened to Susan Carol Thorne, Miss Daly City of 1962, was resolved Wednesday when her body was found in her wrecked 1969 hardtop in a brush-covered washout gully 55 miles west of Truckee on Interstate 80.

Highway Patrol officers indicated that she may have fallen asleep while driving home from Reno. They reported her auto had left the divided freeway and plunged 300 feet down an embankment into the gully.

Spotted by Workers

She appeared to have been dead since June 2, the night she disappeared.

She was found shortly after noon yesterday by two Division of Highway employees who had been working on the side of the road. For some reason, they went down the slope a bit further, and spotted the wreckage.

The car, with heavy damage to its front end and left side, was found lying on its right side. Miss Thorne was found lying on the right side of the front seat, still wearing the striped mini-skirt, striped multi-colored blouse and sandals she was wearing when she concluded a visit with her half-brother, Ralph Jellison, in Reno at about 11 p.m. last Tuesday night. Highway Patrol officials said death appeared to have been immediate.

Location of the tragedy is a desolate foothills area between Gold Run and Auburn. It happened on a divided strip of the four-lane superhighway, which descends gradually over a period of many miles from the Donner area to Sacramento.

The weather was clear at the time, authorities reported. The car did not roll, but apparently left the road at high speed.

A $5,000 reward had been offered by Miss Thorne's distraught father, who operates a trucking firm, for information regarding the petite brunette, 26-year-old former beauty queen when she failed to return home last week. The family had feared foul play.

The father, Myron Thorne, of 16 Oakmont Drive, posted the reward for her safe return after searching the entire route between the two cities.

Airman First Class Charles E. Marcon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy B. Kolby, of 812 Bower Road, Pacifica, is a member of the Perrin AFB, Texas, unit that has been selected as the best aircraft maintenance organization in the U.S. Air Force.

Airman Marcon is a weapons mechanic with the 4780th Air Defense Wing, winner of the 1969 Daedalian Maintenance Trophy.

It marks the first time an Aerospace Defense Command (ADC) unit has won the stiff Air Force-wide competition for the annual award which was established by the Order of Daedalians, an organization founded by World War I pilots.

Wing personnel were cited for outstanding performance in supporting aircraft, including F-102 Delta Dagger fighter-interceptors, used in training ACD aircrews who help protect the United States against aerial attack.

The airman is a 1968 graduate of Terra Nova High School. His wife, Candiss, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Iverson of 1448 Serra Drive, Pacifica.
